FINAL SUBMISSION DEADLINES

After the defense, students are normally allowed up to 30 days to make revisions and submit the completed and defended dissertation.

If they need more than 30 days for making changes to the dissertation, they must contact the Th.D. director to request an extension. The request should state the reason for the delay and specify the date that the dissertation will be submitted.

The period of 30 days after the examination for returning the final copies of the dissertation cannot apply if the oral examination was scheduled just prior to the end of an academic term. At those times the corrected dissertation must be returned sooner in order to meet semester deadlines for awarding of the degree. If a student cannot meet these deadlines, he or she is required to register for continuation in the ensuing semester and apply to graduate in that semester. If they are unsure of the semester deadlines, students should inquire with the Divinity registrar. Students must submit two versions of their dissertation: a hard copy to the Registry (108 Gray) and an electronic copy to University Microfilms International. More detailed instructions for each type of submission can be found below.

INITIAL CHECKLIST

Before submitting your dissertation, make sure you have included these sections (1–14) and that you have followed the proper format (15–17):

1. Title/Signature page with original signatures
2. Abstract/Title Signature page with original signatures
3. Copyright page
4. Abstract Text beginning with roman number iv
5. Dedication (optional/numbered, but not listed in Table of Contents)
6. Table of Contents
7. List of Tables (as appropriate)
8. List of Figures (as appropriate)
9. List of Symbols/Abbreviations (as appropriate)
10. Acknowledgments (optional)
11. Double-spaced text
12. Appendices (as appropriate)
13. References (an entry for the References/Bibliography must be included in the Table of Contents)
14. Biography (an entry for the Biography must be included in the Table of Contents)
15. Margins: 1.5" left, 1" right, top and bottom (beneath the page number)
16. Footnote numbers begin with number 1 at the beginning of each new chapter
17. Page numbers: all within required margins (lower case Roman numerals for introductory pages, Arabic numerals for text). Landscape Figures (if any) with page numbers placed bottom center of page. All pages are numbered except for the two title signature pages and copyright page.

Updated September 3, 2010
PAPER COPY SUBMISSION

The original paper copy of the dissertation (with original signature pages) is to be submitted to the Divinity School registry (108 Gray). This copy will be bound and placed in the Divinity School library holdings. Students should also submit at this time a signed license (see form below) to allow distribution of the dissertation on DukeSpace.

ELECTRONIC COPY SUBMISSION

Th.D. graduates must also submit their dissertation in electronic format to University Microfilms International, from where a copy will automatically be placed in DukeSpace.

DukeSpace

DukeSpace <http://dukespace.lib.duke.edu/> is a digital repository that is used, in part, to electronically store dissertations, theses, and papers created by students at the University. Th.D. dissertations placed here are web-accessible under a Creative Commons license and are accompanied by a copyright statement indicating the author’s continuing rights. They are assigned a persistent URL and become searchable through DukeSpace as well as by search engines like Google.

University Microfilms International

University Microfilms International (UMI), Ann Arbor, Michigan provides a standardized setting for microfilming, issuing print and digital copies, and providing bibliographic access to Duke Divinity School Th.D. dissertations. Bibliographic citations and abstracts will be published in the Dissertation Abstracts International database, available online, on CD-ROM, and in microform. Bibliographic information concerning these documents will also be made available to a worldwide network of online information providers and distributors including OCLC, Dialog®, and STN®. Where possible, print output of the document will be created, microfilmed and stored in UMI’s vaults. The PDF version of the document will be loaded into ProQuest Digital Dissertations, a digital archive of dissertations. UMI Dissertations Publishing will check for document integrity and copyright compliance. If the document appears to be incomplete or if there are questions about the reproduction of previously copyrighted materials, publication will be delayed until those concerns are resolved.

Procedure for Electronic Submission through UMI

To submit your dissertation to UMI electronically, use the following web address:

www.etdadmin.com/divinity.duke

Students will also have the option to purchase soft cover or hard cover bound copies of their dissertation. If students need assistance submitting their dissertation electronically, they may contact the Divinity registrar or the Divinity Library for assistance.
Before you begin, be sure you have the following:

- Title of your dissertation
- Abstract
- Full text of the dissertation in PDF format, as a single file
  (Students can use any computer in the DDS library's Computer Classroom to translate Word or RTF files into PDF. There are also utilities on the UMI site that can translate these files)
- Optional supplementary files (images, sound, etc.)
- Advisor's name
- Subject category for the dissertation
- Suggested Keywords (up to six)

NOTE: Use unsigned Title and Abstract Title pages for the electronic submission. The signed pages are submitted with the paper copy to the Divinity School registry.

Copyright Information

The copyright law of the United States protects your rights in your work automatically, from the moment it is fixed in tangible form (including storage as an electronic file). Your copyright is valid for your lifetime plus 70 years, and the rights remain yours, subject to the license mentioned above, unless and until you transfer them to another, such as a publisher. While it is no longer required that you register your work to obtain copyright protection, there are some advantages to registration. It is necessary to have registered your work, for example, before bringing a legal claim for infringement. There are additional advantages to registering within three months of publication, and submission to UMI does constitute legal publication. You may register your work directly with the Registrar of Copyrights (see information at www.copyright.gov), or you may authorize UMI to register on your behalf when you submit your dissertation. The submission site has instructions and fees. Whether you register your copyright or not, you are required to include a copyright page after the Abstract Title Signature Page and before the Abstract text stating 1) the copyright notice, 2) your full legal name, and 3) the year of submission to Duke Divinity School (see style guide). This page gives notice of your rights in your work whenever that work is reproduced in any form.

Updated September 3, 2010
NON-EXCLUSIVE DISTRIBUTION LICENSE and DISSERTATION AVAILABILITY AGREEMENT

By signing and submitting this license “the author” grants to DukeSpace at Duke University the non-exclusive right to reproduce and distribute your submission in electronic format via the World Wide Web, as well as the right to migrate or convert your submission, without alteration of the content, to any medium or format for the purpose of preservation and/or continued distribution.

Duke University acknowledges that this is a non-exclusive license; any copyrights in the submission remain with the author or other copyright holder and subsequent uses of the submitted material by that person(s) are not restricted by this license.

The author agrees that Duke University may keep more than one copy of this submission for purposes of security, backup and preservation.

The author represents that the submission covered by this license is his/her original work and that he/she has the right to grant this license to DukeSpace at Duke University. The author further represents that the submission does not, to the best of his/her knowledge, infringe upon any third-party’s copyright. If the submission contains material for which the author does not hold copyright, the author represents that he/she has obtained the unrestricted permission of the copyright holder to grant this license to DukeSpace, and that such third-party material is clearly identified and acknowledged within the text or content of the submission. In the event of a subsequent dispute over the copyrights to material contained in this submission, the author agrees to indemnify and hold harmless Duke University and its employees or agents for any uses of the material authorized by this license.

If this submission is based upon work that has been sponsored or supported by any agency or organization other than Duke University, the author represents that he/she has fulfilled any right of review or other obligation required by contract or agreement with the supporting entity.

DukeSpace will make the submission available to the public using a Creative Commons Attribution / Non-commercial / No derivative works license accompanied by a copyright statement indicating the author’s continuing rights. DukeSpace will take all reasonable steps to ensure that the author’s name remains clearly associated with the submission and that no alterations of the content are made.

I agree to the terms of the Non-Exclusive Distribution License:

___________________________    ________________________     ________________________
Signature          Print Name        Date

Please select one of the following dissertation availability options:

___ No restriction on availability
___ 6 month embargo
___ 1 year embargo
___ 2 year embargo

Signatures:

Dissertation Director: __________________________________________

Dissertation Author: __________________________________________