Select Hymns (1761)
[Baker List, #244]

Editorial Introduction:

By 1761 John Wesley had been publishing hymn collections for nearly a quarter of a century. His earliest effort, a series titled Collection of Psalms and Hymns (CPH) launched in 1737, was designed to supplement broadly Anglican patterns of worship. This was joined, starting in 1739, by a second series bearing the title Hymns and Sacred Poems (HSP), which focused on Methodist sources and was designed more for devotional use. While these two series added rich resources for Methodist worship, the number and size of the volumes, and their resulting combined cost, posed a challenge. The hymns that were most beloved and used in Methodist circles were scattered among the volumes, and few could afford them all.

Charles Wesley sensed this problem in the fall of 1742, leading to the rushed publication of a selection of twenty-four hymns from the 3rd edition of HSP (1739), titled Collection of Hymns (1742). This collection proved useful enough to be reprinted at least three times over the next decade. A second attempt to address the need for a single collection of hymns that had become central to Methodist worship was made in 1747, in Ireland. Within weeks of Charles Wesley’s arrival in Dublin, a volume titled Hymns and Sacred Poems (1747) was issued. This was not a Dublin printing of the combined form of HSP (1739) and HSP (1740) currently circulating in England. It was a much shorter selection of thirty-seven hymns, mostly drawn from HSP (1739). This effort was apparently an emergency measure, because it was never republished.

In the winter of 1752–53 John Wesley took time to prepare a larger and more carefully selected single volume of hymns for worship, which he titled Hymns and Spiritual Songs, Intended for the Use of Real Christians of all Denominations (HSS). It included 84 hymns, drawn from the early volumes of the CPH series and all three volumes of the HSP series. Wesley noted in the preface that this collection was not solely for his followers, but all “real Christians.” The hymns emphasize the themes of repentance and assurance common to the evangelical revival. By contrast, Wesley’s distinctive emphases on God’s universal offer of grace and the possibility of perfection, as well as his high sacramental views, are quite muted. Several of the favorite hymns among his followers where these themes are prominent were omitted.

This limitation of HSS (1753) is part of what led John Wesley to return to the task of compiling a single-volume collection of hymns in early 1761. As he notes in the preface, one of the main goals in the resulting volume, titled Select Hymns (1761), was to gather the “best hymns” sung by “the people called Methodists.” His other major goal was to bind at the end of the volume, after the texts of the hymns, a set of tunes in “common use” among the Methodists that he wanted to endorse. In keeping with the purposes of the present web-collection, the transcription below will focus only on the text of the hymns included.

Select Hymns (1761) was a larger collection than HSS (1753), containing 133 hymns. All but one of these were drawn from earlier collections published by Wesley. The one hymn that finds its first appearance among JW’s collections in Select Hymns (1761) is #90 (pp. 83–84), a hymn by Isaac Watts, from his collection Horae Lyricae.

2 The one hymn that finds its first appearance among JW’s collections in Select Hymns (1761) is #90 (pp. 83–84), a hymn by Isaac Watts, from his collection Horae Lyricae.
most immediate source is identified in notes for each hymn, and appears in the Table of Contents, where it is typically shown in blue font. In two instances, Wesley’s abridgement of the source resulted in the hymn beginning with a new first line. The prior location for these two appears in red font in the Table of Contents, indicating that this is the first setting where a hymn with this first line appears in the Wesley corpus.

Possibly reflecting its narrower focus on a Methodist audience, but mainly reflecting its greater cost (due to the inclusion of the tunes), Select Hymns sold more slowly than Hymns and Spiritual Songs—the latter being reprinted on a yearly basis while the first printing of Select Hymns lasted four years. When Wesley did reprint Select Hymns in 1765 he replaced two of the hymns and added sixteen more. For this reason we have opted to provide a separate transcription of Select Hymns (1765), which remained standard through subsequent reprints through Wesley’s life.

Finally, we would note that Select Hymns (1761) was marred by a higher than usual number of small printer errors in spelling. We have silently corrected most of these, when the error was clearly unintentional (creating a nonsense word). In cases where a misprint is likely (compared to the original source), but the alternative spelling is itself a word, we have indicated this in a note.

Preface.

1. Some years ago a collection of tunes was published, under the title of Harmonia Sacra. I believe all unprejudiced persons who understand music allow, that it exceeds beyond all degrees of comparison, anything of the kind which has appeared in England before—the tunes being admirably well chosen, and accurately engraven, not only for the voice but likewise for the organ or harpsichord.

2. But this, though it is excellent in its kind, is not the thing which I want. I want the people called Methodists to sing true the tunes which are in common use among them. At the same time I want them to have in one volume the best hymns which we have printed, and that in a small and portable volume, and one of an easy price.

3. I have been endeavouring for more than twenty years to procure such a book as this, but in vain. Masters of music were above following any direction but their own. And I was determined whoever compiled this should follow my direction: not mending our tunes but setting them down, neither better nor worse than they were. At length I have prevailed. The following collection contains all the tunes which are in common use among us. They are pricked⁴ true, exactly as I desire all our congregations may sing them. And here is prefixed to them a collection of those hymns which are (I think) some of the best we have published. The volume likewise is small, as well as the price. This therefore I recommend, preferably to all others.

SELECT HYMNS.

Hymn I. 5

1 All glory and praise,
   To the antient of days,
Who was born and was slain to redeem a lost race.

2 Salvation to God,
   Who carried our load,
And purchas’d our lives with the price of his blood.

3 And shall he not have
   The lives which he gave
Such an infinite ransom for ever to save?

4 Yes, Lord, we are thine,
   And gladly resign
Our souls to be fill’d with the fullness divine?

5 How, when it shall be,
   We cannot foresee:
But, O let us live, let us die unto thee?

5This is an extract from Hymns on the Lord’s Supper (1745), 130–31; stanzas 1–4, 6.
Hymn II.

1 My God, I am thine:
What a comfort divine,
What a blessing to know that my Jesus is mine?

2 In the heav’nly Lamb
Thrice happy I am,
And my heart doth rejoice at the sound of his name.

3 True pleasures abound
In the rapturous sound,
And whoever hath found it hath paradise found.

4 My Jesus to know
And feel his blood flow,
’Tis life everlasting, ’tis heav’n below.

5 Yet onward I haste
To the heav’nly feast:
That, that is the fulness: but this is the taste.

6 And this I shall prove,
Till with joy I remove
To the heav’n of heav’ns in Jesus’s love.

Hymn III.

1 O Jesus, my rest,
How unspeakably blest?
Is the sinner that comes to be hid in thy breast!

2 I come at thy call:
At thy feet do I fall,
And believe and confess thee my God and my all.

3 Thou art Mary’s good part,
The thing needful thou art,
The desire of my eyes, and the joy of my heart:

7First appeared in HSP (1749), 1:220.
4 My comfort and stay,
    My life and my way:
My crown of rejoicing in that happy day.

5 Health, pardon and peace
    In thee I possess:
I can have nothing more; I will have nothing less.

6 I stand in thy might,
    I walk in thy light;
And all heav’n I claim in thy God-giving right.

Hymn IV.

1 O Jesus my hope,
    For me offer’d up
Who with clamour pursued thee to Calvary’s top.
    The blood thou hast shed,
For me let it plead,
    And declare thou hast dy’d in thy murderer’s stead.

2 Thy blood, which alone
    For sin could atone,
For the infinite evil I madly have done:
    That only can seal,
My pardon and fill
    My heart with a power of obeying thy will.

3 Now, now let me know
    Its virtue below;
Let it wash me, and I shall be whiter than snow.
    Let it hallow my heart,
And thro’ly convert,
    And make, me, O Lord, in the world as thou art.

4 Each moment apply’d,
    My weakness to hide,
Thy blood be upon me, and always abide:

This is an extract from HSP (1749), 1:81–82; stanzas 1–2, 5–6.
My Advocate prove
With the Father above,
And speak me at last to the throne of thy love.

Hymn V.⁹

1 All ye that pass by
   To Jesus draw nigh:
   To you is it nothing that Jesus should die?
   Your ransom and peace,
   Your surety he is:
   Come, see if there ever was sorrow like his!

2 For what you have done
   His blood must atone:
   The Father hath punish’d for you his dear Son:
   The Lord in the day
   Of his anger did lay
   Your sins on the Lamb, and he bore them away.

3¹⁰ He answer’d for all,
   O come at his call:
   And lo at his feet with astonishment fall!
   Ye all may receive
   The peace he did leave,
   Who made intercession, “My Father, forgive.”

4 For you and for me
   He pray’d on the tree:
   The pray’r is accepted: the sinner is free.
   The sinner am I,
   Who on Jesus rely,
   And come for the pardon God cannot deny.

5 My pardon I claim;
   For a sinner I am,
   A sinner believing on Jesus’s name.
   He purchas’d the grace,
   Which now I embrace:
   O Father, thou know’st, he hath dy’d in my place.

¹⁰This stanza composed of 3a and 4b of the original.
6 His death is my plea,
   My Advocate see,
And hear the blood speak that hath answer’d for me.
   Acquitted I was
When he hung on the cross,
   And by losing his life he hath carry’d my cause.

Hymn VI.\textsuperscript{11}

1 Ah tell us no more,
   The Spirit and power
   Of Jesus our God
Is not to be found in the life-giving food!

2 Did Jesus ordain
   His Supper in vain?
   And furnish a feast,
For none but his earliest servants to taste?

3 Nay, but this is his will
   (We know it and feel)
   That we should partake
The banquet for all he so freely did make.

4 Tis God we believe,
   Who cannot deceive:
   The witness of God
Is present, and speaks in the mystical blood.

5 Receiving the bread
   On Jesus we feed:
   It doth not appear
His manner of working: but Jesus is here!

6 O that all men would haste
   To this spiritual feast;
   At Jesus’s word
Do this, and be fed with the love of their Lord!

\textsuperscript{11}This is an extract from \textit{Hymns on the Lord’s Supper} (1745), 78–80; stanzas 1–3, 5–6, 8–12.
7 True light of mankind,
Shine into their mind,
And clearly reveal
Thy perfect, and good, and acceptable will.

8 Bring near the glad day,
When all shall obey
Thy dying request,
And eat of thy Supper, and lean on thy breast.

9 To all men impart
One way and one heart:
Thy people be shown
All righteous, and spotless, and perfect in one.

10 Then, then let us see
Thy glory, and be
Cought up in the air,
This heavenly Supper in heaven to share.

Hymn VII.\(^{12}\)

1 Come let us anew
Our journey pursue,
Roll round with the year,
And never stand still, till the Master appear:
His adorable will,
Let us gladly fulfil,
And our talents improve
By the patience of hope, and the labour of love.

2 Our life is a dream,
Our time as a stream
Glides swiftly away,
And the fugitive moment refuses to stay.
The arrow is flown,
The moment is gone:
The millennial year
Rushes on to our view, and eternity’s here!

\(^{12}\)First appeared in New Year’s Hymns (1749), 9.
3 O that each in the day
   Of his coming may say
     I have fought my way thro’;
I have finish’d the work thou didst give me to do.
   O that each from his Lord
     May receive the glad word,
   “Well and faithfully done!
     “Enter into my joy, and sit down on my throne!”

Hymn VIII.13

1 Away with our fears,
   Our troubles and tears!
The Spirit is come,
The witness of Jesus return’d to his home.
The pledge of our Lord
   To his heaven restor’d
Is sent from the sky,
And tells us our head is exalted on high.

2 Our Advocate there
   By his blood and his pray’r,
The gift hath obtain’d,
For us he hath pray’d and the Comforter gain’d
   Our glorified head
His Spirit hath shed
   With his people to stay;
And never again will he take him away.

3 Our heavenly guide
   With us shall abide.
His comfort impart,
And set up his kingdom of love in our heart.
The heart that believes,
   His kingdom receives,
His power and his peace,
His life and his joy’s everlasting increase.

4 Then let us rejoice
   In heart and in voice,

13This is an extract from Whitsunday Hymns (1746), 36; stanzas 1–3, 5.
Our leader pursue,
And shout\textsuperscript{14} as we travel the wilderness thro’
With the Spirit remove
To the Sion above;
Triumphant arise,
And walk with our God, till we fly to the skies.

\textbf{Hymn IX.}\textsuperscript{15}

1 Praise be to the Father given,
   Christ he gave, us to save,
   Now the heirs of heaven.

2 Pay we equal adoration
   To the Son: he alone
   Wrought out our salvation.

3 Glory to th’ eternal Spirit!
   Us he seals, Christ reveals,
   And applies his merit.

4 Worship, honour, thanks and blessing,
   One and Three, give we thee,
   Never, never ceasing.

\textbf{Hymn X.}\textsuperscript{16}

1 Jesu, come, my hope of glory?
   Purify, me, that I
   May with saints adore thee.

2 Big with earnest expectation,
   Still I sit, at thy feet,
   Longing for salvation.

3 My poor heart vouchsafe to dwell in:
   Make me thine, love divine,
   By thy Spirit’s sealing.

\textsuperscript{16}This is an extract from \textit{HSP} (1749), 2:155–56; stanzas 1–3, 5–8.
4 Thou hast laid the sure foundation
    Of my hope, build me up;
    Finish thy creation.

5 From this inbred sin deliver;
    Let the yoke, now be broke,
    Make me thine for ever.

6 Partner of thy perfect nature
    Let me be now in thee
    A new, sinless creature.

7 Perfect when I walk before thee.
    Soon or late, then translate
    To the realms of glory.

Hymn XI. 17

1 Thou very Paschal Lamb,
    Whose blood for us was shed,
    Thro’ whom we out of Egypt came,
    Thy ransom’d people lead,

2 Angel of gospel-grace,
    Fulfil thy character;
    To guard and feed the chosen race
    In Israel’s camp appear.

3 Throughout the desert way
    Conduct us by thy light:
    Be thou a cooling cloud by day,
    A chearing fire by night,

4 Our fainting souls sustain
    With blessings from above,
    And ever on thy people rain18
    The manna of thy love.

Hymn XII.¹⁹

1. Come ye that love the Lord,
   And let your joys be known:
   Join in a song with sweet accord,
   While ye surround his throne.

2. Let those refuse to sing,
   Who never knew our God:
   But servants of the heav’nly King
   May speak their joys abroad.

3. The God that rules on high,
   And all the earth surveys,
   That rides upon the stormy sky,
   And calms the roaring seas:

4. This awful God is ours;
   Our Father and our love;
   Thou shalt send down thy heav’nly pow’rs
   To carry us above.

5. There we shall see his face,
   And never, never sin:
   There from the rivers of his grace
   Drink endless pleasures in.

6. Yea, and before we rise
   To that immortal state,
   The thoughts of such amazing bliss
   Should constant joys create.

7. The men of grace have found
   Glory begun below:
   Celestial fruits on earthly ground
   From faith and hope may grow.

8. Then let our songs abound,
   And ev’ry tear be dry:
   We’re marching thro’ Immanuel’s ground
   To fairer worlds on high.

Hymn XIII.

1 Father, our hearts we lift,
    Up to thy gracious throne,
    And bless thee for the precious gift
    Of thine incarnate Son:
    The gift unspeakable
    We thankfully receive,
    And to the world thy goodness tell,
    And to thy glory live.

2 A peace on earth he brings
    That never more shall end:
    The Lord of hosts, the King of kings,
    Proclaims himself our friend:
    Assumes our flesh and blood,
    That we his Spirit may gain,
    The eternal Son of God,
    The mortal Son of man.

3 His kingdom from above
    He doth to us impart,
    And pure benevolence and love
    O'erflow the faithful heart.
    Chang'd in a moment we
    The sweet attraction find,
    With open arms of charity
    Embracing all mankind.

4 O might they all receive
    The new-born Prince of Peace,
    And meekly in his Spirit live,
    And in his love increase.
    Till he convey us home
    Cry every soul aloud,
    Come, thou desire of nations, come,
    And take us all to God!

Hymn XIV.

1 Jesu, my Lord attend
   Thy feeble creature’s cry;
   And shew thyself the sinner’s friend,
   And set me up on high.
   From hell’s oppressive pow’r
   My struggling soul release;
   And to thy Father’s grace restore,
   And to thy perfect peace.

2 Thy blood and righteousness
   I make my only plea:
   My present and eternal peace
   Are both deriv’d from thee.
   Rivers of life divine
   From thee, their fountain flow,
   And all who know that love of thine
   The joy of angels know.

3 Come then, impute, impart
   To me thy right’ousness,
   And let me taste how good thou art,
   How full of truth and grace:
   That thou canst here forgive
   Grant me to testify,
   And justify’d by faith to live,
   And in thy faith to die.

Hymn XV.

1 Who in the Lord confide
   And feel his sprinkled blood,
   In storms and hurricanes abide
   Firm as the mount of God,
   Stedfast, and fixt, and sure,
   His Sion cannot move:

His faithful people stand secure
In Jesu’s guardian love.

2 As round Jerusalem
The hilly bulwarks rise,
So God protects and covers them
From all their enemies.
On every side he stands,
And for his Israel cares;
And safe in his almighty hands
Their souls for ever bears.

Hymn XVI.23

1 God of almighty love,
By whose sufficient grace
I lift my heart to things above,
And humbly seek thy face:
Thro’ Jesus Christ the just
My faint desires receive:
And bid me in thy goodness trust,
And to thy glory live.

2 What e’er I think or do,
Thy glory be my aim;
My offerings all be offer’d thro’
The ever blessed name:
Jesu, my single eye
Be fixt on thee alone:
Thy name be prais’d on earth, on high,
Thy will by all be done.

Hymn XVII.24

1 Ye simple souls that stray,
Far from the path of peace,
(That unfrequented way
To life and happiness:)

23This is an extract from HSP (1749), 1:251–52; stanzas 1–2.
24First appeared in Redemption Hymns (1747), 21–22.
How long will ye your folly love
   And throng the downward road,
And hate the wisdom from above,
   And mock the sons of God?

2  Madness and misery
   Ye count our life beneath,
   And nothing great can see
   Or glorious in our death:
   As born to suffer and to grieve,
   Beneath your feet we lie,
   And utterly condemn’d we live,
   And unlamented die.

3  Poor pensive sojourners,
   O’erwhelm’d with grief and woes,
   Perplex’d with needless fears,
   And pleasure’s mortal foes;
   More irksome than a gaping tomb,
   Our sight ye cannot bear,
   Wrapt in the melancholy gloom
   Of fanciful despair.

4  So wretched, and obscure
   The men whom ye despise,
   So foolish, weak and poor,
   Above your scorn we rise;
   Our conscience in the Holy Ghost
   Can witness better things;
   For he whose blood is all our boast,
   Hath made us priests and kings.

5  Riches unsearchable
   In Jesu’s love we know,
   And pleasures, from the well
   Of life, our souls o’erflow;
   From him the Spirit we receive
   Of wisdom, grace, and pow’r,
   And always sorrowful we live
   Rejoicing evermore.
6 Angels our servants are,
And in all our ways,
And in their hands they bear
The sacred sons of grace;
Our guardians to that heav’nly bliss
They all our steps attend;
And God himself our Father is,
And Jesus is our friend.

7 With him we walk in white,
We in his image shine,
Our robes are robes of light,
Our right’ousness divine:
On all the grov’ling kings of earth
With pity we look down,
And claim in virtue of our birth,
A never-fading crown.

Hymn XVIII.

1 Son of God thy blessing grant:
Still supply my ev’ry want:
Tree of life thine influence shed,
With thy sap my spirit feed.

2 Tend’rest branch alas! am I,
Wither without thee and die,
Weak as helpless infancy;
O confirm my soul in thee.

3 Unsustain’d by thee I fall;
Send the help for which I call:
Weaker than a bruised reed,
Help I ev’ry moment need.

4 All my hopes on thee depend;
Love me, save me to the end;
Give me the continuing grace:
Take the everlasting praise.

Hymn XIX.26

1 O thou holy Lamb divine,
   How canst thou and sinners join?
   God of spotless purity,
   How shall man concur with thee?

2 Offer up one sacrifice
   Acceptable to the skies?
   What shall wretched mortals bring
   Pleasing to the glorious King.

3 Only sin we call our own:
   But thou art the darling Son;
   Thine it is our God t’ appease:
   Him thou dost for ever please.

4 We on thee alone depend,
   With thy sacrifice ascend,
   Render what thy grace hath giv’n:
   Lift our souls with thee to heav’n.

Hymn XX.27

1 Holy Lamb, who thee receive,
   Who in thee begin to live,
   Day and night they cry to thee,
   As thou art, so let us be.

2 Jesu, see my panting breast,
   See I pant in thee to rest:
   Gladly would I now be clean:
   Cleanse me now from ev’ry sin.

3 Fix, O fix my wav’ring mind;
   To thy cross my spirit bind:
   Earthly passions far remove;
   Swallow up my soul in love.

27This is an extract from JW’s translation of a German hymn by Anna Dober, which first appeared in HSP (1740), 93–94; stanzas 1–4, 8.
4 Dust and ashes tho’ we be,
   Full of sin and misery,
   Thine we are, thou Son of God:
   Take the purchase of thy blood!

5 Boundless wisdom, pow’r divine,
   Love unspeakable are thine:
   Praise by all to thee be giv’n,
   Sons of earth and hosts of heav’n.

Hymn XXI.

1 Lord, if thou the grace impart,
   Poor in spirit meek in heart,
   I shall as my Master be,
   Rooted in humility.

2 From the time that thee I know
   Nothing shall I seek below;
   Aim at nothing, great or high,
   Lowly both my heart and eye:

3 Simple, teachable and mild,
   Aw’d into a little child:
   Quiet now without my food,
   Wean’d from ev’ry creature good.

4 Hangs my new born soul on thee,
   Kept from all idolatry;
   Nothing wants, beneath, above,
   Happy, happy in thy love.

5 O that all may seek and find
   Ev’ry good in Jesus join’d!
   Him let Israel still adore:
   Trust him, praise him ever more!

Hymn XXII. 29

1 Lord and God of heavenly pow’rs,
Theirs, yet O! Benignly ours;
Glorious King, let earth proclaim,
Worms attempt to chaunt thy name.

2 Thee to laud in songs divine,
Angels and archangels join;
We with them our voices raise,
Ecchoing thy eternal praise.

3 Holy, holy, holy Lord,
Live by heaven and earth ador’d;
Full of thee they ever cry,
Glory be to God most high!

Hymn XXIII. 30

1 Come, desire of nations, come,
Hasten, Lord, the gen’ral doom,
Hear the Spirit and the bride,
Come, and take us to thy side.

2 Thou, who hast our place prepar’d,
Make us meet for our reward,
Then with all thy saints descend,
Then our earthly trials end.

3 Mindful of thy chosen race,
Shorten these vindictive days,
Who for full redemption groan,
Hear us now, and save thine own.

4 Now destroy the man of sin,
Now thine antient flock bring in,
Fill’d with righteousness divine,
Claim a ransom’d world for thine.

5 Plant the heav’nly kingdom here,
Glorious in thy saints appear,
Speak the sacred number seal’d,
Speak the mystery fulfill’d.

6 Take to thee thy royal pow’r,
Reign when sin shall be no more,
Reign when death no more shall be,
Reign to all eternity.

Hymn XXIV.

1 Glory be to God on high,
God whose glory fills the sky;
Peace on earth to man forgiv’n,
Man the well-belov’d of heav’n.

2 Sov’reign Father, heavenly King,
Thee we now presume to sing,
Glad thine attributes confess,
Glorious all and numberless.

3 Hail by all thy works ador’d,
Hail the everlasting Lord!
Thee with thankful hearts we prove
Lord of pow’r, and God of love!

4 Christ our Lord and God we own;
Christ the Father’s only Son:
Lamb of God, for sinners slain,
Saviour of offending man.

5 Bow thine ear, in mercy bow,
Hear the world’s atonement thou:
Jesu, in thy name we pray,
Take, O take our sins away!

6 Pow’rful advocate with God,
Justify us by thy blood!
Bow thine ear, in mercy bow,
Hear, the world’s atonement thou!

---

7 Hear; for thou, O Christ alone,
With thy glorious Sire art one;
One the Holy Ghost with thee,
One supreme, eternal Three!

Hymn XXV.

1 Hark, dull soul, how ev’ry thing
Strives t’ adore our bount’ous King!
Earth a double tribute pays;
Sings its part, and then obeys.

2 Nature’s sprightliest sweetest quire,
Him with chearful notes admire;
Ev’ry day they chaunt their lauds,
While the grove their songs applauds.

3 Tho’ their voices lower be,
Streams too, have their melody;
Night and day they warbling run,
Never pause, but still run on.

4 All ye flow’rs that paint the spring,
Hither their still music bring;
If heav’n bless them, thankful they
Smell more sweet, and look more gay.

5 Wake for shame, my sluggish heart,
Wake, and gladly sing thy part;
Learn of birds, and springs and flow’rs,
How t’ employ thy nobler pow’rs.

6 Call whole nature to thy aid,
Since ’twas he whole nature made;
Join in one eternal song,
Who to one God all belong.

7 Live for ever, glorious Lord,
Live, by all thy works ador’d,
One in Three, and Three in One,
All things bow to thee alone.

Hymn XXVI.

1 Clap your hands, ye people all,
Praise the God on whom ye call;
Lift your voice, and shout his praise,
Triumph in his sov’reign grace.

2 Glorious is the Lord most high,
Terrible in majesty;
He his sov’reign sway maintains,
King o’er all the earth he reigns.

3 He the people shall subdue,
Make us kings and conqu’rors too;
Force the nations to submit,
Bruise our sins beneath our feet.

4 He shall bless his ransom’d ones,
Number us with Israel’s sons;
God our heritage shall prove,
Give us all a lot of love.

5 Jesus is gone up on high,
Takes his seat above the sky:
Shout the angel-quires aloud,
Ecchoing to the trump of God!

6 Sons of earth the triumph join,
Praise him with the host divine,
Emulate the heav’nly pow’rs,
Their victor’ous Lord is ours.

7 Shout the God enthrown’d above,
Trumpet forth his conqu’ring love,
Praises to our Jesus sing,
Praises to our glorious King!

8 Pow’r is all to Jesus giv’n,
Pow’r o’er hell and earth and heaven!
Pow’r he now to us imparts:
Praise him with believing hearts.

9  Heathens he compels t’ obey,
Saints he rules with mildest sway
Pure and holy hearts alone
Chuses for his quiet throne.

10 Peace to them and pow’r he brings,
Makes his subjects priests and kings,
Guards, while in his worship join’d,
Bids them cast the world behind.

11 On himself he takes their care,
Saves them not by sword or spear:
Safely to his house they go,
Fearless of th’ invading foe.

12 God keeps off the hostile bands,
God protects their happy lands,
Stands as keeper of their fields,
Stands as twice ten thousand shields.

13 Wonderful in saving power,
Him let all our hearts adore,
Earth and heav’n repeat the cry,
Glory be to God most high!

Hymn XXVII.\(^\text{34}\)

1  Ye who dwell above the skies,
Free from human miseries,
Ye whom highest heav’n embow’rs,
Praise the Lord with all your pow’rs.

2  Angels, your clear voices raise;
Him ye heav’nly armies praise;
Sun and moon with borrow’d light;
All ye sparkling eyes of night.

3  Waters hanging in the air,
Heav’n of heav’ns his praise declare;
His deserved praise record;
His, who made you by his word.

\(^{34}\text{By George Sandys; appeared in CPH (1741), 93–94; taken here from CPH (1743), 119–20.}\)
4 Let the earth his praise resound:
Monst’rous whales, and seas profound:
Vapours, light’ning, hail, and snow,
Storms which, where he bids you, blow:

5 Flow’ry hills and mountains high;
Cedars, neighbours to the sky;
Trees and cattle, creeping things,
All that cut the air with wings.

6 You, who awful scepters sway,
You, accustom’d to obey,
Princes, judges of the earth,
All of high and humble birth:

7 Youths and virgins flourishing,
In the beauty of your spring;
Ye who were but born of late,
Ye who bow with age’s weight:

8 Praise his name with one consent:
O how great! How excellent!
Than the earth profounder far;
Higher than the highest star.

9 He will his to glory raise;
Ye, his saints, resound his praise:
Ye, his sons, his chosen race,
Bless his love, and sov’reign grace.

Hymn XXVIII.

1 Come, and let us sweetly join,
Christ to praise in hymns divine;
Give we all with one accord,
Glory to our common Lord;
Hands, and hearts, and voices raise,
Sing as in the antient days;
Antedate the joys above,
Celebrate the feast of love.

2 Strive we, in affection strive,
Let the purer flame revive,
Such as in the martyrs glow’d,
Dying champions for their God.
We like them may live and love;
Call’d we are their joys to prove,
Sav’d with them from future wrath,
Part’ners of like precious faith.

3 Sing we then in Jesu’s name,
Now as yesterday the same,
One in ev’ry age and place,
Full for all of truth and grace.
We for Christ our Master stand,
Lights in a benighted land,
We our dying Lord confess; We are Jesu’s witnesses.

4 Witnesses that Christ hath dy’d,
We with him are crucify’d:
Christ hath burst the bonds of death,
We his quick’ning Spirit breathe.
Christ is now gone up on high;
(Thither all our wishes fly:)
Sits at God’s right-hand above,
There with him we reign in love!

Hymn XXIX.

1 Come, thou high and lofty Lord,
Lowly, meek, incarnate Word,
Humbly stoop to earth again,
Come and visit abject man,
Jesu, dear expected guest,
Thou art bidden to the feast;
For thyself our hearts prepare,
Come, and sit, and banquet there.

2 Jesu, we thy promise claim,
We are met in thy great name;

In the midst do thou appear,
Manifest thy presence here:
Sanctify us Lord and bless;
Breathe thy Spirit, give thy peace;
Thou thyself within us move:
Make our feast a feast of love.

Let the fruits of grace abound,
Let us in thy bowels sound;
Faith, and love, and joy increase,
Temperance and gentleness.
Plant in us thy humble mind;
Patient, pityful and kind;
Meek and lowly let us be,
Full of goodness, full of thee.

Make us all in thee complete,
Make us all for glory meet,
Meet t’ appear before thy sight,
Partners with the saints in light:
Call, O call us all by name,
To the marriage of the Lamb,
Let us lean upon thy breast;
Love be there our endless feast.

Hymn XXX. 37

Hail that day that sees him rise,
Ravish’d from our wishful eyes!
Christ awhile to mortals giv’n,
Reascends his native heav’n:
There the pompous triumph waits:
Lift your heads, eternal gates!
Wide unfold the radiant scene,
Take the King of Glory in!

Circled round with angel-pow’rs,
Their triumphant Lord and ours;
Conqu’ror o’er death, hell, and sin,
Take the King of Glory in.

Him, tho’ highest heav’n receives,
Still he loves the earth he leaves,
Tho’ returning to his throne,
Still he calls mankind his own.

3
See, he lifts his hands above;
See, he shews the prints of love;
Hark! his gracious lips bestow,
Blessings on his church below!
Still for us he intercedes,
Prevalent his death he pleads;
Next himself prepares our place,
Harbinger of human race.

4
Master (will we ever say)
Taken from our head to-day,
See, thy faithful servants, see,
Ever gazing up to thee!
Grant, tho’ parted from our sight,
High above yon azure height,
Grant, our hearts may thither rise,
Following thee beyond the skies.

5
Ever upward let us move,
Wafted on the wings of love;
Looking when our Lord shall come,
Longing, gasping after home!
There we shall with thee remain,
Partners of thine endless reign;
There thy face unclouded see,
Find our heav’n of heav’ns in thee!

Hymn XXXI. 38

1
Happy Magdalen, to whom
Christ the Lord vouchsaft t’ appear,
Newly risen from the tomb:
Would he first be seen by her!
Her by seven devils possest,
Till his word the fiends expell’d,

38First appeared in Resurrection Hymns (1746), 4–5. Appears here as revised in Festival Hymns (1746), 23–26.
Quench’d the hell within her breast,
All her sins and sickness heal’d.

2 Yes, to her the Master came,
First his welcome voice she hears;
Jesus calls her by her name;
He the weeping sinner cheers;
Lets her the dear task repeat,
While her eyes again run o’er,
Lets her hold his bleeding feet,
Kiss them, and with joy adore.

3 Highly favour’d soul! To her
Further still his grace extends,
Raising the glad messenger,
Sends her to his drooping friends:
Tidings of their living Lord
First in her report they find:
She must spread the gospel-word,
Teach the teachers of mankind!

4 Who can now presume to fear?
Who despair his Lord to see?
Jesus wilt thou not appear,
Shew thyself alive to me?
Yes, my God I dare not doubt;
Thou shalt all my sins remove:
Thou hast cast a legion out;
Thou wilt perfect me in love.

5 Surely thou hast call’d me now!
Now I hear the voice divine!
At thy wounded feet I bow,
Wounded for whose sins but mine!
I have nail’d him to the tree;
I have sent him to the grave:
But the Lord is risen for me;
Hold of him by faith I have.

6 Here for ever would I lie,
Didst thou not thy servant raise,
Send me forth to testify,
   All the wonders of thy grace!
Lo! I at thy bidding go,
   Gladsly to thy follow’rs tell,
They their rising God may know,
   They the life of Christ may feel.

7    Hear ye brethren of the Lord,
        (Such he you vouchsafes to call)
O believe the gospel-word,
    Christ hath dy’d, and rose for all:
Turn ye from your sins to God!
    Haste to Gallilee, and see,
Him, who bought thee with his blood,
    Him, who rose to live in thee!

_Hymn XXXII._

1    God of all redeeming grace,
        By thy pard’ning love compell’d,
Up to thee our souls we raise,
        Up to thee our bodies yield.
Thou our sacrifice receive,
    Acceptable thro’ thy Son;
While to thee alone we live,
        While we die to thee alone.

2    Just it is, and good, and right,
        That we should be wholly thine;
In thy only will delight,
    In thy blessed service join.
O that ev’ry thought and word
    Might proclaim how good thou art!
Holiness unto the Lord
        Still be written on our heart.

Hymn XXXIII.⁴⁰

1 Happy soul, that safe from harms,
   Rests within his shepherd’s arms?
   Who his quiet shall molest?
   Who shall violate his rest?
   Jesus doth his spirit bear,
   Jesus makes his every care;
   He who found the wand’ring sheep,
   Jesus still delights to keep.

2 O that I might so believe,
   Stedfastly to Jesus cleave,
   On his only love rely,
   Smile at the destroyer nigh!
   Free from sin and servile fear,
   Have my Jesus ever near;
   All his care rejoice to prove,
   All his paradise of love.

3 Jesus, seek thy wand’ring sheep,
   Bring me back, and lead, and keep,
   Take on thee my every care,
   Bear me, on thy bosom, bear.
   Let me know my shepherd’s voice,
   More and more in thee rejoice;
   More and more of thee receive,
   Ever in thy Spirit live:

4 Live, till all thy life I know,
   Perfect as my Lord below,
   Gladly then from earth remove,
   Gather’d to the fold above,
   O that I at last may stand
   With the sheep at thy right-hand,
   Take the crown so freely giv’n,
   Enter in by thee to heav’n.

Hymn XXXIV.

1. Thee we adore, eternal name,
   And humbly own to thee,
   How feeble is our mortal frame,
   What dying worms we be.

2. Our wasting lives grow shorter still,
   As days and months increase;
   And ev’ry beating pulse we tell
   Leaves but the number less.

3. The year rolls round, and steals away
   The breath that first it gave:
   What e’er we do, where’er we be,
   We’re travelling to the grave.

4. Dangers stand thick thro’ all the ground
   To push us to the tomb;
   And fierce diseases wait around,
   To hurry mortals home.

5. Great God on what a slender thread
   Hang everlasting things!
   Th’ eternal states of all the dead
   Upon life’s feeble strings!

6. Infinite joy and endless woe
   Attend on every breath:
   And yet how unconcern’d we go
   Upon the brink of death!

7. Waken, O Lord, our drowsy sense,
   To walk this dangerous road:
   And if our souls are hurried hence,
   May they be found in God.

Hymn XXXV.\textsuperscript{42}

1 O God, our help in ages past,
   Our hope for years to come,
   Our shelter from the stormy blast,
   And our eternal home:

2 Under the shadow of thy throne
   Still may we dwell secure;
   Sufficient is thine arm alone,
   And our defence is sure.

3 Before the hills in order stood,
   Or earth receiv’d her frame,
   From everlasting thou art God,
   To endless years the same.

4 A thousand ages in thy sight,
   Are like an evening gone;
   Short as the watch that ends the night
   Before the rising sun.

5 The busy tribes of flesh and blood,
   With all their cares and fears,
   Are carried downward by the flood,
   And lost in following years.

6 Time, like an ever-rolling stream,
   Bears all its sons away:
   They fly forgotten, as a dream,
   Dies at the op’ning day.

7 O God, our help in ages past,
   Our hope for years to come;
   Be thou our guard while life shall last,
   And our perpetual home.

Hymn XXXVI. 43

1 How sad our state by nature is!
   Our sin, how deep it stains!
   And Satan binds our captive souls
   Fast in his slavish chains.

2 But there’s 44 a voice of sov’reign grace
   Sounds from the sacred word:
   Ho! ye despairing sinners come,
   And trust upon the Lord!

3 My soul obeys th’ almighty call,
   And runs to this relief;
   I would believe thy promise Lord!
   O help my unbelief.

4 To the blest fountain of thy blood,
   Incarnate God I fly;
   Here let me wash my spotted soul
   From sins of deepest dye.

5 Stretch out thy arm, victor’ous King,
   My reigning sins subdue;
   Drive the old dragon from his seat,
   With his infernal crew.

6 A guilty, weak, and helpless worm,
   Into thy arms I fall;
   Be thou my strength and right’ousness,
   My Jesus and my all.

Hymn XXXVII. 45

1 When rising from the bed of death,
   O’erwhelm’d with guilt and fear,
   I view my Maker face to face,
   O how shall I appear!

43By Isaac Watts; appeared in CPH (1737), 52.
44Orig., “their’s”; a misprint.
2 If yet, while pardon may be found,
    And mercy may be sought,
    My soul with inward horror shrinks,
    And trembles at the thought!

3 When thou, O Lord, shalt stand disclos’d,
    In majesty severe,
    And sit in judgment on my soul,
    O how shall I appear?

4 O may my broken contrite heart,
    Firmly my sins lament,
    And early with repentant tears,
    Eternal woe prevent!

5 Behold the sorrows of my heart,
    Ere yet it be too late;
    And hear my Saviour’s dying groans,
    To give those sorrows weight.

6 For never shall my soul despair,
    Her pardon to secure;
    Who knows thy only Son hath dy’d,
    To make that pardon sure.

Hymn XXXVIII.⁴⁶

1 O Sun of right'ousness arise,
    With healing in thy wings!
    To my diseas’d, my fainting soul,
    Life and salvation bring.

2 These clouds of pride and sin dispel
    By thy all-piercing beam;
    Lighten mine eyes with faith, my heart
    With holy hope inflame.

3 My mind by thy all-quickning pow’r,
    From low desires set free;
    Unite my scatter’d thoughts, and fix
    My love entire on thee.

⁴⁶First appeared in CPH (1741), 32–33.
4 Father, thy long-lost son receive,
Saviour, thy purchase own;
Blest Comforter, with peace and joy
Thy new-made creature crown.

5 Eternal, undivided Lord,
Co-equal One and Three,
On thee all faith, and hope be plac’d,
All love be paid to thee!

Hymn XXXIX. 47

1 Enslav’d to sense, to pleasure prone,
Fond of created good;
Father, our helplessness we own,
And trembling taste our food.

2 Trembling we taste: for ah! No more
To thee the creatures lead;
Chang’d they exert a baleful pow’r,
And poison while they feed.

3 Curst for the sake of wretched man,
They now engross him whole,
With pleasing force on earth detain,
And sensualize his soul.

4 Grov’ling on earth, we still must lie,
Till Christ the curse repeal,
Till Christ descending from on high
Infected nature heal.

5 Come then, our heav’nly Adam, come,
Thine healing influence give;
Hallow our food, reverse our doom,
And bid us eat and live.

6 The bondage of corruption break!
For this our spirits groan;
Thy only will we fain would seek;
O save us from our own.

47First appeared in HSP (1739), 35–36.
7 Turn the full stream of nature’s tide:
   Let all our actions tend
To thee their source; thy love the guide,
   Thy glory be the end.

8 Earth then a scale to heav’n shall be,
   Sense shall point out the road;
The creatures all shall lead to thee,
   And all we taste be God!

Hymn XL. 48

1 Lord, all I am is known to thee,
   In vain my soul would try,
To shun thy presence, or to flee
   The notice of thine eye.

2 Thy all-surrounding sight surveys
   My rising and my rest,
My publick walks, my private ways,
   The secrets of my breast.

3 My thoughts lie open to thee, Lord,
   Before they’re form’d within;
And ere49 my lips pronounce the word,
   Thou know’st the sense I mean.

4 O wondrous knowledge, deep and high!
   Where can a creature hide?
Within thy circling arms I lie,
   Beset on every side.

5 So let thy grace surround me still,
   And like a bulwark prove
To guard my soul from ev’ry ill,
   Secur’d by sov’reign love.

48By Isaac Watts; appeared in CPH (1738), 48–49.
49Orig., “e’er”; but clearly used in sense of “before.”
Hymn XLI.\textsuperscript{50}

1 Lord, where shall guilty souls retire,
   Forgotten and unknown?
In hell they meet thy vengeful ire,
   In heav’n thy glorious throne.

2 Should I suppress my vital breath
   T’ escape the wrath divine,
Thy voice would break the bars of death,
   And make the grave resign.

3 If wing’d with beams of morning light,
   I fly beyond the west,
Thy hand, which must supply my flight,
   Would soon betray my rest.

4 If o’er my sins I seek to draw
   The curtains of the night,
Those flaming eyes that guard thy law,
   Would turn the shades to light.

5 The beams of noon, the midnight hour,
   Are both alike to thee:
O may I ne’er provoke that pow’r,
   From which I cannot flee!

Hymn XLII.\textsuperscript{51}

1 O thou who when I did complain,
   Didst all my griefs remove;
O Saviour, do not now disdain,
   My humble praise and love.

2 Since thou a pitying ear didst give,
   And heard me when I pray’d,
I’ll call upon thee while I live,
   And never doubt thy aid.

3 Pale death with all its ghastly train,
   My soul encompast round:
Anguish, and sin, and dread, and pain,
   On ev’ry side I found.

\textsuperscript{50}By Isaac Watts; appeared in \textit{CPH} (1738), 49–50.

\textsuperscript{51}By Samuel Wesley Sr.; appeared in \textit{CPH} (1737), 8.
4 To thee, O Lord of life I pray’d,
   And did for succour flee:
O save (in my distress I said)
The soul that trusts in thee!

5 How good thou art! How large thy grace!
   How easy to forgive!
The helpless thou delight’st to raise:
   And by thy love I live.

6 Then, O my soul, be never more
   With anxious thoughts distrest,
God’s bount’ous love doth thee restore
   To ease, and joy, and rest.

7 My eyes no longer drown’d in tears,
   My feet from falling free,
Redeem’d from death, and guilty fears,
   O Lord, I’ll live to thee!

Hymn XLIII.52

1 Let him to whom we now belong
   His sov’reign right assert,
And take up ev’ry thankful song,
   And ev’ry loving heart.

2 He justly claims us for his own
   Who bought us with a price:
The Christian lives to Christ alone;
   To Christ alone he dies.

3 Jesu, thine own at last receive,
   Fulfil our heart’s desire,
And let us to thy glory live,
   And in thy cause expire.

4 Our souls and bodies we resign,
   With joy we render thee
Our all, no longer ours, but thine,
   Thro’ all eternity!

52First appeared in Hymns on the Lord’s Supper (1745), 131.
Hymn XLIV.\textsuperscript{53}

1 Infinite pow’r, eternal Lord,
   How sov’reign is thy hand!
All nature rose t’ obey thy word,
   And moves at thy command.

2 With steady course the shining sun
   Keeps his appointed way;
And all the hours obedient run
   The circle of the day.

3 But ah! How wide my spirit flies,
   And wanders from her God!
My soul forgets the heav’nly prize,
   And treads the downward road.

4 The raging fire and stormy sea
   Perform thy awful will,
And ev’ry beast and ev’ry tree
   Thy great design fulfil.

5 While my wild passions rage within,
   Nor thy commands obey;
But flesh and sense, enslav’d to sin,
   Draw my best thoughts away.

6 Shall creatures of a meaner frame
   Pay all their dues to thee?
Creatures that never knew thy name,
   That ne’er were lov’d like me?

7 Great God, create my soul anew,
   Conform my heart to thine,
Melt down my will and let it flow,
   And take the mould divine.

8 Seize my whole frame into thy hand,
   Here all my pow’rs I bring;
Manage the wheels by thy command,
   And govern every spring.

\textsuperscript{53}By Isaac Watts; appeared in \textit{CPH} (1738), 74–75; taken here from \textit{CPH} (1743), 42–43.
Then shall my feet no more depart,
Nor my affections rove;
Devotion shall be all my heart,
And all my passions love.

Hymn XLV.

From whence these dire portents around,
That earth and heav’n amaze?
Wherefore do earthquakes cleave the ground?
Why hides the sun his rays?

Nor thus did Sinai’s trembling head
With sacred horror nod,
Beneath the dark pavilion spread
Of legislative God.

Thou, earth, thy lowest centre shake;
With Jesus sympathize!
Thou, sun, as hell’s deep gloom be black:
’Tis thy Creator dies!

See streaming from th’ accursed tree,
His all-atoning blood!
Is this the infinite? ’Tis he.
My Saviour and my God!

For me these pangs his soul assail,
For me the death is born;
My sin gave sharpness to the nail,
And pointed ev’ry thorn.

Let sin no more my soul enslave!
Break, Lord, the tyrant’s chain;
O save me, whom thou cam’st to save;
Nor bleed nor die in vain!

Hymn XLVI.\(^{55}\)

1 Happy the souls to Jesus join’d,
   And sav’d by grace alone;
Walking in all thy ways we find
   Our heav’n on earth begun.

2 The church triumphant in thy love
   Their mighty joys to know;
They sing the Lord in hymns above,
   And we in hymns below.

3 Thee in thy glorious realm they praise,
   And bow before thy throne:
We in the kingdom of thy grace;
   The kingdoms are but one.

4 The holy to the holiest leads;
   From thence our spirits rise,
And he that in thy statutes treads
   Shall meet thee in the skies.

Hymn XLVII.\(^{56}\)

1 Sweet is the mem’ry of thy grace,
   My God, my heav’nly King:
Let age to age thy righteousness
   In sounds of glory sing.

2 God reigns on high, but not confines
   His goodness to the skies:
Thro’ the whole earth his goodness shines,
   And ev’ry want supplies.

3 With longing eyes thy creatures wait
   On thee for daily food;
Thy lib’ral hand provides them meat,
   And fills their mouths with good.

4 How kind are thy compassions, Lord!
   How slow thine anger moves!
But soon he sends his pard’ning word,
   To chear the soul he loves.

5 Creatures with all their endless race,
   Thy pow’r and praise proclaim:
But we who taste thy richer grace,
   Delight to bless thy name.

Hymn XLVIII. 57

1 Let ev’ry tongue thy goodness speak,
   Thou sov’reign Lord of all!
Thy strength’ning hands upholds the weak,
   And raise the poor that fall.

2 When sorrows bow the spirit down,
   Or virtue lies distrest
Beneath the proud oppressor’s frown,
   Thou giv’st the mourner rest.

3 The Lord supports our infant days,
   And guides our giddy youth;
Holy and just are all thy ways,
   And all thy works are truth.

4 Thou know’st the pains thy servants feel;
   Thou hear’st thy children’s cry,
And their best wishes to fulfil
   Thy grace is ever nigh.

5 Thy mercy never shall remove
   From men of heart sincere;
Thou sav’st the souls whose humble love
   Is join’d with holy fear.

6 My lips shall dwell upon thy praise
   And spread thy fame abroad:
Let all the sons of Adam raise
   The honours of their God.

57By Isaac Watts; appeared in CPH (1738), 16–17.
Hymn XLIX.\textsuperscript{58}

1 Being of beings, God of love,
   To thee our hearts we raise:
   Thy all-sustaining pow’r we prove,
   And gladly sing thy praise.

2 Thine, wholly thine, we pant to be,
   Our sacrifice receive;
   Made and preserv’d, and sav’d by thee,
   To thee ourselves we give.

3 Heav’nward our ev’ry wish aspires;
   For all thy mercy’s store
   The sole return thy love requires,
   Is that we ask for more.

4 For more we ask, we open then
   Our hearts t’ embrace thy will:
   Turn and beget us, Lord, again,
   With all thy fulness fill.

5 Come, Holy Ghost, the Saviour’s love!
   Shed in our hearts abroad!
   So shall we ever live and move
   And be with Christ in God.

Hymn L.\textsuperscript{59}

1 The Lord! How fearful is his name!
   How wide is his command!
   Nature, with all her moving frame,
   Rests on his mighty hand.

2 Adoring angels round him fall,
   In all their shining forms;
   His sov’reign eye looks thro’ them all,
   And pities mortal worms.

\textsuperscript{58}First appeared in \textit{HSP} (1739), 36–37.
\textsuperscript{59}By Isaac Watts; this is an extract from \textit{CPH} (1738), 29; stanzas 1, 4–7.
3 His bowels to our worthless race
   In sweet compassion move;
He cloathes his looks with softest grace,
   And takes his title love.

4 Now let the Lord for ever reign,
   And sway us as he will;
Sick, or in health, in ease, or pain,
   We are his children still.

5 No more shall peevish passions rise,
   Our tongues no more complain:
'Tis sov'reign love that lends our joys,
   And love resumes again.

Hymn LI.

1 When all the mercies of my God,
   My rising soul surveys,
Why my cold heart, art thou not lost
   In wonder, love and praise?

2 Thy providence my life sustain’d,
   And all my wants redress’d,
While in the silent womb I lay,
   And hung upon the breast.

3 To all my weak complaints, and cries,
   Thy mercy lent an ear,
Ere yet my feeble thoughts had learn’d
   To form themselves in pray’r.

4 Unnumber’d comforts on my soul
   Thy tender care bestow’d,
Before my infant heart conceiv’d
   From whom those comforts flow’d.

5 When in the slipp’ry paths of youth,
   With heedless steps I ran,
Thine arm unseen convey’d me safe,
   And led me up to man.

60By Joseph Addison & Richard Steele; this is an extract from CPH (1737), 26–28; stanzas 1–6, 8–9.
61Orig., “E’er”; but clearly used in sense of “before.”
6   Thro’ hidden dangers, toils and deaths,
    It gently clear’d my way:
And thro’ the pleasing snares of vice,
    More to be fear’d than they.

7   Thro’ ev’ry period of my life,
    Thy goodness I’ll pursue;
And after death, in distant worlds,
    The pleasing theme renew.

8   Thro’ all eternity to thee
    A grateful song I’ll raise;
But O eternity’s too short
    To utter all thy praise.

Hymn LII.62

1   Come let us join our chearful songs,
    With angels round the throne:
Ten thousand thousand are their tongues,
    But all their joys are one.

2   Worthy the Lamb that dy’d they cry,
    To be exalted thus;
Worthy the Lamb our hearts reply,
    For he was slain for us.

3   Jesus is worthy to receive
    Honour and pow’r divine:
And blessings more than we can give
    Be, Lord, for ever thine.

4   The whole creation join in one,
    To bless the sacred name
Of him that sits upon the throne,
    And to adore the Lamb.

62By Isaac Watts; appeared in CPH (1738), 34.
Hymn LIII.

1 My God! the spring of all my joys,
The life of my delights,
The glory of my brightest days,
And comfort of my nights;

2 In darkest shades if thou appear,
My dawning is begun:
Thou art my soul’s bright morning-star,
And thou my rising sun.

3 The op’ning heav’ns around me shine
With beams of sacred bliss,
If Jesus shews his mercy mine,
And whispers, I am his.

4 My soul would leave this heavy clay
At that transporting word,
Run up with joy the shining way,
To see and praise my Lord.

5 Fearless of hell and ghastly death
I’d break thro’ ev’ry foe:
The wings of love and arms of faith,
Would bear me conqu’ror thro’.

Hymn LIV.

1 God of all grace and majesty,
Supremely great and good,
If I have mercy found with thee,
Thro’ the atoning blood:
The guard of all thy mercies give,
And to my pardon join
A fear lest I should ever grieve
The gracious Spirit divine.

---

63 By Isaac Watts; appeared in CPH (1738), 35–36.
2 If mercy is indeed with thee,
   May I obedient prove,
Nor e’er abuse my liberty,
   Or sin against thy love:
This choicest fruit of faith bestow
   On a poor sojourner,
And let me pass my days below
   In humbleness and fear.

3 Rather I would in darkness mourn
   The absence of thy peace,
Than e’er by light irreverence turn
   Thy grace to wantonness:
Rather I would in painful awe
   Beneath thine anger move,
Than e’er reject the gospel-law
   Of liberty and love.

4 But O thou would’st not have me live
   In bondage, grief and pain:
Thou dost not take delight to grieve
   The helpless sons of men:
Thy will is my salvation, Lord;
   And let it now take place,
And let me tremble at thy word
   Of reconciling grace.

5 Still may I walk as in thy sight,
   My strict observer see;
And thou by reverent love unite
   My child like heart to thee.
Still let me, till my days are past,
   At Jesu’s feet abide;
So shall he lift me up at last,
   And seat me by his side.
Hymn LV.

1 Almighty God of truth and love,
   In me thy pow’r exert,
The mountain from my soul remove,
   The hardness from my heart:
My most obdurate heart subdue,
   In honour of thy Son,
And now thy grac’ous wonder show,
   And take away the stone.

2 I want a principle within,
   Of jealous, godly fear,
A sensibility of sin,
   A pain to feel it near:
I want the first approach to feel
   Of pride, or fond desire,
To catch the wand’ring of my will,
   And quench the kindling fire.

3 From thee that I no more may part,
   No more thy goodness grieve,
The filial awe, the fleshly heart,
   The tender conscience give.
Quick as the apple of an eye,
   O God, my conscience make,
Awake my soul when sin is nigh,
   And keep it still awake.

4 If to the right, or left I stray,
   That moment, Lord, reprove,
And let me weep my life away
   For having griev’d thy love:
Give me to feel an idle thought
   As actual wickedness,
And mourn for the minutest fault
   In exquisite distress.

5 O may the least omission pain
   My well-instructed soul,

---

And drive me to the blood again
Which made the wounded whole:
More of this tender spirit, more
Of this affliction send,
And spread the moral sense all o’er,
’Till pain with life shall end.

Hymn LVI.

1 Hail, Father, whose creating call
Unnumber’d worlds attend,
Jehovah, comprehending all,
Whom none can comprehend:
In light unsearchable enthron’d,
Which angels dimly see,
The fountain of the God-head own’d,
And foremost of the Three.

2 From thee thro’ an eternal now,
The Son thine offspring flow’d;
An everlasting Father thou,
As everlasting God.
Nor quite display’d to worlds above,
Nor quite on earth conceal’d;
By wond’rous, unexhausted love,
To mortal man reveal’d.

3 Supreme and all-sufficient God,
When nature shall expire,
And worlds created by thy nod,
Shall perish by thy fire.
Thy name, Jehovah, be ador’d,
By creatures without end,
Whom none but thy essential Word
And Spirit comprehend.

Hymn LVII.

1 Hail God the Son, in glory crown’d,
Ere time began to be,
Thron’d with the Sire thro’ half the round
Of wide eternity!

66By Samuel Wesley Jr.; appeared in CPH (1737), 11–12.
68Orig., “E’er”; but clearly used in sense of “before.”
Let heaven and earth’s stupendous frame
  Display their author’s pow’r,
And each exalted seraph flame,
  Creator, thee adore.

2 Thy wond’rous love the Godhead shew’d
  Contracted to a span,
The co-eternal Son of God,
  The mortal Son of man.
To save mankind from lost estate,
  Behold his life-blood stream!
Hail, Lord! Almighty to create!
  Almighty to redeem!

3 The Mediator’s God-like sway
  His church beneath sustains;
’Till nature shall her judge survey,
  The King Messiah reigns.
Hail with essential glory crown’d,
  When time shall cease to be,
Thron’d with the Father thro’ the round
  Of whole eternity!

Hymn LVIII. 69

1 Father, how wide thy glories shine,
  How high thy wonders rise!
Known thro’ the earth by thousand signs,
  By thousands thro’ the skies.
Those mighty orbs proclaim thy pow’r:
  Their motions speak thy skill:
And on the wings of ev’ry hour
  We read thy patience still.

2 Part of thy name divinely stands
  On all thy creatures writ,
They shew the labour of thy hands
  Or impress of thy feet.

69By Isaac Watts; appeared in CPH (1738), 28; but JW concludes stanza 4 by adding a four-line doxology taken from Hymns on God’s Everlasting Love, 2nd Series (1742), 56.
But when we view thy strange design
   To save rebellious worms;
Where, vengeance and compassion join
   In their divinest forms.

3 Here the whole deity is known,
   Nor dares a creature guess,
Which of the glories brightest shone,
   The justice, or the grace.
Now the full glories of the Lamb
   Adorn the heav’nly plains,
Bright seraphs learn Immanuel’s name,
   And try their choicest strains.

4 O may I bear some humble part
   In that immortal song!
Wonder and joy shall tune my heart,
   And love command my tongue.
To Father, Son and Holy Ghost,
   Who sweetly all agree,
To save a world of sinners lost,
   Eternal glory be.

Hymn LIX.

1 And let this feeble body fail,
   And let it faint or die,
My soul shall quit the mournful vale,
   And soar to worlds on high:
Shall join the disembodied saints,
   And find its long-sought rest,
That only bliss for which it pants
   In the Redeemer’s breast.

2 In hope of that immortal crown,
   I now the cross sustain,
And gladly wander up and down,
   And smile at toil and pain.
I suffer on my threescore years
   Till my Deliverer come,

---

70This is an extract from Funeral Hymns (1759), 4–6; stanzas 1–2, 5a, 6a, 9.
And wipe away his servant’s tears,
And take his exile home.

3 O what hath Jesus bought for me
Before my ravish’d eyes
Rivers of life divine, I see,
And trees of paradise!
I see a world of spirits bright
Who taste the pleasures there!
They all are rob’d in spotless white,
And conqu’ring palms they bear.

4 O what are all my suff’rings here,
If Lord thou count me meet
With that inraptur’d host t’ appear
And worship at thy feet.
Give joy or grief, give ease or pain,
Take life and friends away;
But let me find them all again
In that eternal day.

Hymn LX. 71

1 Jesu, thou art my right’ousness,
For all my sins were thine.
Thy death hath bought of God my peace,
Thy life hath made him mine.
My dying Saviour and my God,
Fountain for guilt and sin,
Sprinkle me ever with thy blood,
And cleanse, and keep me clean.

2 Wash me, and make me thus thine own:
Wash me, and mine thou art:
Wash me, but not my feet alone,
My hands, my head, my heart.
Th’ atonement of thy blood apply,
’Till faith to sight improve:
’Till hope shall in fruition die,
And all my soul be love.

71This is an extract from HSP (1740), 95–96; stanzas 1, 4–6.
Hymn LXI.

1 Jesu, my life, thyself apply,
Thy Holy Spirit breathe,
My vile affections crucify,
Conform me to thy death.
Conqu’ror of hell, and earth, and sin,
Still with thy rebel strive;
Enter my soul, and work within,
And kill, and make alive.

2 More of thy life, and more I have,
As the old Adam dies:
Bury me Saviour in thy grave,
That I with thee may rise.
Reign in me, Lord, thy foes controll,
Who would not own thy sway;
Diffuse thine image thro’ my soul,
Shine to the perfect day.

3 Scatter the last remains of sin,
And seal me thine abode;
O make me glorious all within,
A temple built by God.
My inward holiness thou art,
For faith hath made thee mine:
With all thy fulness fill my heart,
’Till all I am is thine!

Hymn LXII.

1 Ah woe is me constrain’d to dwell
Among the sons of night;
Poor sinners dropping into hell,
Who hate the gospel light.
Wild as the untam’d Arab’s race,
Who from their Saviour fly;
And trample on his pard'ning grace,
And all his threats defy.

2 Yet here, alas! In pain I live,
Where Satan keeps his seat;
And day and night for those I grieve,
Who will to sin submit:
With gushing eyes their deeds I see,
Shut up in Sodom I,
And ask with him who ransom’d me,
Why will ye sin and die?

3 Jesus, Redeemer of mankind,
Display thy saving pow’r,
Thy mercy let these outcasts find,
And know their gracious hour.
Ah! Give them, Lord, a longer space
Nor suddenly consume,
But let them take the proffer’d grace,
And flee the wrath to come.

4 O would’st thou cast a pitying look
(All goodness as thou art)
Like that which faithless Peter’s broke
Or my obdurate heart.
Who thee beneath their feet have trod,
And crucify’d afresh,
Touch with thine all-victorious blood
And turn the stone to flesh.

5 Open their eyes and ears to see
Thy cross, to hear thy cries.
Sinner thy Saviour weeps for thee,
For thee he weeps and dies.
All the day long he meekly stands
His rebels to receive;
And shews his wounds and spreads his hands,
And bids you turn and live.
Hymn LXIII.

1. Hail, Holy Ghost, Jehovah, third,
   In order of the Three;
   Sprung from the Father and the Word,
   From all eternity:
   The Spirit brooding o’er th’ abyss
   Of formless waters lay:
   Spoke into order all that is,
   And darkness into day.

2. In deepest hell, or heav’n’s height,
   Thy presence who can fly?
   Known is the Father to thy sight,
   Th’ abyss of deity.
   Thy pow’r thro’ Jesu’s life display’d,
   Quite from the virgin’s womb,
   Dying, his soul an off’ring made,
   And rais’d him from the tomb.

3. God’s image which our sins destroy,
   Thy grace restores below;
   And truth and holiness and joy,
   From thee, their fountain flow.
   Hail Holy Ghost, Jehovah, third
   In order of the Three,
   Sprung from the Father, and the Word
   From all eternity.

Hymn LXIV.

1. Hail, holy, holy, holy Lord!
   Be endless praise to thee!
   Supreme, essential One, ador’d
   In co-eternal Three.
   Inthron’d in everlasting state
   Ere time its round began,
   Who join’d in council to create
   The dignity of man.

2 To whom Isaiah’s vision shew’d
   The seraphs veil their wings,
While thee Jehovah, Lord and God,
   The angelic army sings.
To thee by mystic pow’rs on high,
   Were humble praises giv’n,
When John beheld, with favour’d eye,
   Th’ inhabitants of heav’n.

3 All that the name of creature owns
   To thee in hymns aspire;
May we as angels on our thrones
   For ever join the choir!
Hail, holy, holy, holy Lord!
   Be endless praise to thee;
Supreme, essential One, ador’d
   In co-eternal Three.

Hymn LXV.77

1 Praise ye the Lord, ye immortal quires,
   That fill the realms above,
Praise him who form’d you of his fire,
   And feeds you with his love.

2 Sing to his praise ye chrystal skies,
   The floor of his abode:
Or veil in shades your thousand eyes,
   Before your brighter God.

3 Thou restless globe of golden light,
   Whose beams create our days,
Join with the silver queen of night,
   To own your borrow’d rays.

4 Winds, ye shalt bear his name aloud,
   Thro’ the ethereal blue;
For when his chariot is a cloud,
   He makes his wheels of you.

77By Isaac Watts; appeared in CPH (1738), 70–71.
5 Thunder and hail, and fires and storms,
The troops of his command,
Appear in all your dreadful forms,
And speak his awful hand.

6 Shout to the Lord, ye surging seas,
   In your eternal roar;
Let wave to wave resound his praise,
   And shore reply to shore.

7 While monsters sporting on the flood,
   In scaly silver shine,
Speak terribly their Maker God,
   And lash the foaming brine.

8 But gentler things shall tune his name,
   To softer notes than these,
Young zephyrs breathing o’er the stream,
   Or whisp’ring thro’ the trees.

9 Wave your tall heads, ye lofty pines
   To him that bids you grow;
Sweet clusters bend the fruitful vines
   On ev’ry thankful bough.

10 Let the shril birds his honour raise,
    And climb the morning sky;
While grov’ling beasts attempt his praise
    In hoarser harmony.

11 Thus while the meaner creatures sing,
    Ye mortals, take the sound;
Echo the glories of your King
    Thro’ all the nations round.

Hymn LXVI.

1 Happy soul, thy days are ended,
   All thy mourning days below:
Go by angel guards attended,
   To the sight of Jesus go.

78First appeared in HSP (1749), 2:75.
2 Waiting to receive thy Spirit,
    Lo! The Saviour stands above,
Shews the purchase of his merit,
    Reaches out the crown of love.

3 Struggle thro’ thy latest passion
    To thy dear Redeemer’s breast,
To his uttermost salvation,
    To his everlasting rest:

4 For the joy he sets before thee,
    Bear a momentary pain,
Die to live the life of glory,
    Suffer with thy Lord to reign.

Hymn LXVII.79

1 Jesu, thy blood and right’ousness,
    My beauty are my glorious dress;
’Midst flaming worlds in these array’d,
    With joy shall I lift up my head.

2 Bold shall I stand in thy great day,
    For who ought to my charge shall lay?
Fully absolv’d thro’ these I am,
    From sin and fear, from guilt and shame.

3 The deadly writing now I see,
    Nail’d with thy body to the tree;
Torn with the nails that pierc’d thy hands
    Th’ old covenant no longer stands.

4 Tho’ sign’d and written with my blood,
    As hell’s foundations sure it stood,
Thine hath wash’d out the crimson stains,
    And white as snow my soul remains.

5 Satan, thy due reward survey,
    The Lord of life why didst thou slay?
To tear the prey out of thy teeth,
To spoil the realms of hell and death.

6 The holy, meek, unspotted Lamb,
Who from the Father’s bosom came,
Who died for me, e’en me, t’ atone,
Now for my Lord and God I own.

7 Lord, I believe thy precious blood,
Which at the mercy-seat of God
For ever doth for sinners plead,
For me, ev’n for my soul, was shed.

8 Yet nought whereof to boast I have,
All, all thy mercy freely gave;
No works, no right’ousness are mine.
All is thy work, and only thine.

9 Thou God of might, thou God of love,
Let the whole world thy mercy prove,
Now let thy word o’er all prevail,
Now take the spoils of death and hell.

10 O let the dead now hear thy voice,
Now bid thy banish’d ones rejoice,
Their beauty this, their glorious dress,
Jesu, thy blood and right’ousness.

Hymn LXVIII.

1 Regent of all the worlds above,
Thou sun whose rays adorn our sphere,
And with unwearied swiftness move,
To form the circle of the year.

2 Praise the Creator of the skies
Who decks thy orb with borrow’d rays;
Or may the sun forget to rise,
When he forgets his Maker’s praise.

By Isaac Watts; appeared in CPH (1737), 70-71.
3 Thou reigning beauty of the night,
   Fair queen of silence, silver moon,
   Whose paler fires and female light
   Are softer rivals of the noon;

4 Arise, and to that sov’reign pow’r,
   Waxing and waning honours pay;
   Who bad thee rule the dusky hours,
   And half supply the absent day.

5 Ye glitt’ring stars, that gild the skies,
   When darkness has her curtain drawn,
   That keep the watch with wakeful eyes,
   When bus’ness, cares and day are gone:

6 Proclaim the glories of your Lord,
   Dispers’d thro’ all the heav’nly street,
   Whose boundless treasures can afford
   So rich a pavement for his feet.

7 Thou heav’n of heav’ns, supremely bright,
   Fair palace of the court divine,
   Where with inimitable light
   The Godhead condescends to shine,

8 Praise thou the great inhabitant,
   Who scatters lovely beams of grace
   On every angel every saint,
   Nor veils the lustre of his face.

9 O God of glory, God of love,
   Thou art the sun that mak’st our days;
   Mid’st all thy wond’rous works above
   Let earth and dust attempt thy praise!

Hymn LXIX.

1 Sinners, obey the gospel word,
   Haste to the supper of my Lord,
   Be wise to know your gracious day:
   All things are ready; come away.

2 Ready the Father is to own,
And kiss his late returning son;
Ready your loving Saviour stands,
And spreads for you his bleeding hands.

3 Ready the Spirit of his love
Just now the stony to remove,
T’ apply, and witness with the blood,
And wash and seal the sons of God.

4 Ready for you the angels wait
To triumph in your blest estate;
Tuning their harps they long to praise
The wonders of redeeming grace.

5 The Father, Son, and Holy Ghost,
Is ready with their shining host,
All heaven is ready to resound
“The dead’s alive, the lost is found!”

6 Come then, ye sinners, to your Lord,
In Christ to paradise restor’d;
His proffer’d benefits embrace,
The plenitude of gospel-grace.

7 A pardon written with his blood
The favour and the peace of God,
The seeing eye, the feeling sense,
The mystic joys of penitence;

8 The godly grief, the pleasing smart,
The meltings of a broken heart,
The tears that tell your sins forgiven,
The sighs that waft your soul to heaven;

9 The guiltless shame, the sweet distress,
Th’ unutterable tenderness,
The genuine meek humility,
The wonder, “Why such love to me!”

10 Th’ o’erwhelming power of saving grace,
The sight that veils the seraph’s face,
The speechless awe that dares not move,
And all the silent heaven of love!
Hymn LXX. 82

1 Happy the man that finds the grace,
The blessing of God’s chosen race,
The wisdom coming from above,
The faith that sweetly works by love.

2 Happy beyond description he,
Who knows, the Saviour died for me,
The gift unspeakable obtains,
And heavenly understanding gains.

3 Wisdom divine! Who tells the price
Of wisdom’s costly merchandize?
Wisdom to silver we prefer,
And gold is dross compar’d to her.

4 Better she is than richest mines,
All earthly treasures she outshines,
Her value above rubies is,
And precious pearls are vile to this.

5 Whate’er thy heart can wish is poor
To wisdom’s all-sufficient store:
Pleasure, and fame, and health, and friends,
She all created good transcends.

6 Her hands are fill’d with length of days,
True riches and immortal praise,
Riches of Christ on all bestow’d,
And honour, that descends from God.

7 To purest joys she all invites
Chaste, holy, spiritual delights:
Her ways are ways of pleasantness,
And all her flowery paths are peace.

8 He finds, who wisdom apprehends,
A life begun that never ends,
The tree of life divine she is,
Set in the midst of paradise.

---

9  Happy the man who wisdom gains
    Thrice happy who his guest retains,
    He owns, and shall for ever own
    Wisdom, and Christ, and heav'n are one.

Hymn LXXI.83

1  My soul before thee prostrate lies,
    To thee, her source, my spirit flies:
    My wants I mourn; my chains I see:
    O let thy presence set me free.

2  Lost and undone for aid I cry;
    In thy death, Saviour, let me die!
    Griev’d with thy grief, pain’d with thy pain,
    Ne’er may I feel self-love again.

3  Jesu, vouchsafe my heart and will
    With thy meek lowliness to fill;
    No more her power let nature boast
    But in thy will may mine be lost.

4  In life’s short day let me yet more
    Of thy enlivening power implore:
    My mind must deeper sink in thee,
    My foot stand firm, from wand’ring free.

5  Ye sons of men, here nought avails
    Your strength, here all your wisdom fails;
    Who bids a sinful heart be clean?
    Thou only, Lord, supreme of men.

6  And well I know thy tender love
    Thou never didst unfaithful prove;
    And well I know thou stand’st by me,
    Pleas’d from myself to set me free.

7  Still will I watch and labour still
    To banish every thought of ill;
    ’Till thou in thy good time appear,
    And sav’st me from the fowler’s snare.

83 This is an extract from JW’s translation of a German hymn by Christian Friedrich Richter, which first appeared in CPH (1737), 56–58; stanzas 1–3, 5–12. Appears here as revised in HSP (1739), 94–96.
8 Already springing hope I feel;
God will destroy the power of hell;
God from the land of wars and pain,
Leads me where peace and safety reign.

9 One only care my soul shall know,
Father, all thy commands to do:
Ah! deep engrave it on my breast,
That I in thee ev’n now am blest.

10 When my warm thought I fix on thee,
And plunge me in thy mercy’s sea,
Then ev’n on me thy face shall shine
And quicken this dead heart of mine.

11 So ev’n in storms my zeal shall grow,
So shall I thy hid sweetness know:
And feel (what endless age shall prove)
That thou, my Lord, my God, art love.

Hymn LXXII.84

1 Father, if justly still we claim
To us and ours the promise made,
To us be graciously the same,
And crown with living fire our head.

2 Our claim admit, and from above
Of holiness the Spirit show’r,
Of wise discernment, humble love,
And zeal, and unity, and pow’r.

3 The Spirit of convincing speech
Of pow’r demonstrative impart,
Such as may ev’ry conscience reach,
And sound the unbelieving heart.

4 The Spirit of refining fire,
Searching the inmost of the mind,
To purge all fierce and foul desire
And kindle life more pure and kind.

84By Henry More; this is an extract that first appeared in HSP (1739), 186–88; stanzas 6–15. Appears here as revised in All in All (1761), 20–21.
The Spirit of faith in this thy day
To break the pow’r of cancel’d sin,
Tread down its strength, o’erturn its sway,
And still the conquest more than win.

The Spirit breathe of inward life
Which in our hearts thy laws may write;
Then grief expires, and pain, and strife,
’Tis nature all, and all delight.

On all the earth thy Spirit show’r,
The earth in righteousness renew;
Thy kingdom come, and hell’s o’erpow’r,
And to thy scepter all subdue.

Like mighty wind or torrent fierce
Let it opposers all o’er-run,
And ev’ry law of sin reverse,
That faith and love may make all one.

Yea, let thy Spirit in ev’ry place
Its richer energy declare,
While lovely tempers fruits of grace,
The kingdom of thy Christ prepare.

Grant this O holy God, and true!
The antient seers thou didst inspire:
To us perform the promise due,
Descend, and crown us now with fire.

Hymn LXXIII. 85

Extended on a cursed tree,
Besmear’d with dust and sweat and blood,
See here the King of Glory, see!
Sinks and expires the Son of God.

Who, who, my Saviour, this hath done:
Who could thy sacred body wound?
No guilt thy spotless heart hath known;
No guile hath in thy lips been found.

85JW’s translation of a German hymn by Paul Gerhardt, which first appeared in HSP (1740), 34–35.
I, I alone have done the deed!
'Tis I thy sacred flesh have torn:
My sins have caus’d thee, Lord, to bleed:
Pointed the nail, and fixt the thorn.

The burthen for me to sustain
Too great, on thee, my Lord, was laid:
To heal me, thou hast borne my pain:
To bless me, thou a curse wast made.

In the devouring lion’s teeth
Torn, and forsook of all, I lay:
Thou spring’st into the jaws of death,
From death to save the helpless prey.

My Saviour, how shall I proclaim,
How pay the mighty debt I owe?
Let all I have, and all I am,
Ceaseless to all thy glory shew.

Too much to thee I cannot give,
Too much I cannot do for thee:
Let all thy love, and all thy grief,
Grav’n on my heart for ever be:

The meek, the still, the lowly mind,
O may I learn from thee my God:
And love with softest pity join’d
For those that trample on thy blood.

Still let thy tears, thy groans, thy sighs
O’erflow my eyes, and heave my breast,
’Till loose from flesh and earth I rise,
And ever in thy bosom rest.

Hymn LXXIV.

Eternal depth of love divine,
In Jesus God with us, display’d,
How bright thy beaming glories shine!
How wide thy healing streams are spread!

Orig., “4”; a misprint.
JW’s translation of a German hymn by Nikolaus Ludwig von Zinzendorf, which first appeared in HSP (1739), 195–96. Appears here as revised in All in All (1761), 23–24.
With whom dost thou delight to dwell?
Sinners, a vile and thankless race:
O God! What tongue aright can tell
How vast thy love, how great thy grace.

2 The dictates of thy sov’reign will
With joy our grateful hearts receive:
All thy delight in us fulfil,
Lo! All we are to thee we give.
To thy sure love thy tender care,
Our flesh, soul, spirit we resign;
O! Fix thy sacred presence there,
And seal th’ abode for ever thine.

3 O King of Glory, thy rich grace
Our short desires surpasses far!
Yea, ev’n our crimes, tho’ numberless,
Less num’rous than thy mercies are.
Still on thee, Father, may we rest!
Still may we pant thy Son to know!
Thy Sp’rit still breathe into our breast,
Fountain of peace, and joy below!

4 Oft have we seen thy mighty pow’r,
Since from the world thou mad’st us free:
Still may we praise thee more and more,
Our hearts more firmly knit to thee:
Still, Lord, thy saving health display,
And arm our souls with heav’nly zeal:
So fearless shall we urge our way
Thro’ all the pow’rs of earth and hell!

Hymn LXXV. 88

1 I thirst, thou wounded Lamb of God,
To wash me in thy cleansing blood,
To dwell within thy wounds; then pain
Is sweet, and life or death is gain:

88 JW’s translation of excerpts from four German hymns by Nikolaus Ludwig von Zinzendorf (stanzas 1–2, 7), Johann Nitschmann (stanzas 3–6), and Anna Nitschmann (stanza 8). First appeared in HSP (1740), 74–76; taken from Hymns and Spiritual Songs (1753), 17.
2 Take this poor heart, and let it be
For ever clos’d to all but thee!
Seal thou my breast, and let me wear
That pledge of love for ever there.

3 How blest are they, who still abide,
Close shelter’d in thy bleeding side!
Who life and strength from thence derive,
And by thee move, and in thee live.

4 What are our works, but sin and death
Till thou thy quick’ning Spirit breathe?
Thou giv’st the power thy grace to move;
O wond’rous grace! O boundless love!

5 How can it be, thou heavenly King,
That thou should’st us to glory bring;
Make slaves the partners of thy throne
Deck’d with a never-fading crown?

6 Hence our hearts melt, our eyes o’erflow,
Our words are lost; nor will; we know,
Nor will we think of ought beside
My Lord, my love is crucify’d!

7 Ah! Lord, enlarge our scanty thought,
To know the wonders thou hast wrought!
Unloose our stammering tongue to tell
Thy love immense, unsearchable.

8 First-born of many brethren, thou!
To thee, lo! All our souls we bow,
To thee our hearts and hands we give
Thine may we die, thine may we live!

Hymn LXXVI.\textsuperscript{89}

1 Brother in Christ and well-belov’d,
To Jesus and his servant dear,
Enter and shew thyself approv’d:
Enter and find that God is here.

2 'Scap’d from the world, redeem’d from sin,
By fiends pursued, by men abhor’d,
Come in, poor fugitive come in
And share the portion of thy Lord.

3 Welcome from earth!—Lo! The right-hand
Of fellowship to thee we give;
With open arms, and hearts we stand,
And thee in Jesu’s name receive!

4 Say, is thy heart resolv’d as ours?
Then let it burn with sacred love;
Then let it taste the heav’nly powers,
Partaker of the joys above.

5 Jesu, attend! Thyself reveal!
Are we not met in thy great name?
Thee in the midst we wait to feel,
We wait to catch the spreading flame.

6 Thou God, that answerest by fire,
The Sp’rit of burning now impart,
And let the flames of pure desire
Rise from the altar of our heart.

7 Truly our fellowship below
With thee and with thy Father is:
In thee eternal life we know,
And heaven’s unutterable bliss.

8 In part we only know thee here,
But wait thy coming from above,—
And I shall then behold thee near,
And I shall all be lost in love!

Hymn LXXVII.90

1 Jesus, in whom the Godhead’s rays
Beam forth with milder majesty,
I see thee full of truth and grace
And come for all I want to thee.

2 Wrathful, impure, and proud I am,
Nor constancy, nor strength I have:
But thou, O Lord, art still the same,
And hast not lost thy power to save.

3 Save me from pride, the plague expell;
Jesu, thine humble self impart;
O let thy mind within me dwell;
O give me lowliness of heart.

4 Enter thyself, and cast out sin;
Thy spotless purity bestow;
Touch me, and make the leper clean;
Wash me, and I am white as snow.

5 Fury is not in thee my God:
O why should it be found in thine!
Sprinkle me, Saviour, with thy blood,
And all thy gentleness is mine.

6 Pour but thy blood upon the flame,
Meek, and dispassionate, and mild,
The leopard sinks into a lamb,
And I become a little child.

Hymn [LXXVIII].

1 O that my load of sin were gone,
O that I could at last submit,
At Jesu’s feet to lay me down,
To lay my soul at Jesu’s feet.

2 When shall mine eyes behold the Lamb,
The God of my salvation see!
Weary, O Lord, thou know’st I am,
Yet still I cannot come to thee.

3 Rest for my soul I long to find;
Saviour if mine indeed thou art,
Give me thy meek and lowly mind,
And stamp thine image on my heart.

91Orig., “LXXVII”; a misprint; the rest of the hymns were also incorrectly numbered but have been corrected by the editor. This is an extract from HSP (1742), 91–92; stanzas 1–2, 4, 6–9. Appears here as revised in Hymns and Spiritual Songs (1753), 27–28.
4 Fain would I learn of thee my God,
Thy light and easy burden prove,
The cross all stain’d with hallow’d blood,
The labour of thy dying love.

5 This moment would I take it up,
And after my dear Master bear,
With thee ascend to Calvary’s top,
And bow my head, and suffer there.

6 I would, but thou must give the pow’r,
My heart from ev’ry sin release.
Bring near, bring near the joyful hour,
And fill me with thy perfect peace.

7 Come, Lord, the drooping sinner cheer,
Nor let thy chariot-wheels delay,
Appear in my poor heart appear,
My God, my Saviour, come away!

Hymn [LXXIX].

1 With glory clad, with strength arraid,
The Lord that o’re all nature reigns,
The world’s[^93] foundation strongly laid,
And the vast fabrick still sustains.

2 How sure establish’d is thy throne!
Which shall no change or period see;
For thou, O Lord, and thou alone
Art King from all eternity.

3 The floods, O Lord, lift up their voice,
And toss the troubled waves on high;
But God above can still their noise,
And make the angry sea comply.

4 Thy promise, Lord, is ever sure,
And they that in thy house would dwell,
That happy station to secure,
Must still in holiness excell.

Hymn [LXXX].

1 Glory to God whose sovereign grace
Hath animated senseless stones,
Call’d us to stand before his face,
And rais’d us into Abraham’s sons.

2 The people that in darkness lay,
In sin and error’s deadly shade,
Have seen a glorious gospel-day,
In Jesu’s lovely face display’d.

3 Thou only, Lord, the work hast done,
And bar’d thine arm in all our sight,
Hast made the reprobates thine own,
And claim’d the out-casts as thy right.

4 Thy single arm, Almighty Lord,
To us the great salvation brought,
Thy word, thy all-creating word,
That spake at first the world from nought.

5 For this the saints lift up their voice,
And ceaseless praise to thee is given,
For this the hosts above rejoice:
We praise the happiness of heaven.

6 For this (no longer sons of night)
To thee our thankful hearts we give;
To thee who call’d us into light,
To thee we die, to thee we live.

7 Suffice, that for the season past,
Hell’s horrid language fill’d our tongues,
We all thy words behind us cast,
And lewdly sung the drunkard’s songs.

8 But O the power of grace divine!
In hymns we now our voices raise,
Loudly in strange hosannas join,
And blasphemies are turn’d to praise;

---

94 First appeared in HSP (1740), 104–5.
Praise God from whom all blessings flow,
Praise him all creatures here below,
Praise him above, ye heav’nly host,
Praise Father, Son, and Holy Ghost.

Hymn [LXXXI].

1 Eternal power, whose high abode
   Becomes the grandeur of a god;
   Infinite lengths beyond the bounds
   Where stars revolve their little rounds:

2 Thee while the first archangel sings,
   He hides his face behind his wings,
   And ranks of shining thrones around
   Fall, worshiping, and spread the ground.

3 Lord, what shall earth and ashes do?
   We would adore our Maker too;
   From sin and dust to thee we cry,
   The great, the holy, and the high!

4 Earth from afar has heard thy fame,
   And worms have learnt to lisp thy name:
   But O the glories of thy mind
   Leave all our soaring thoughts behind.

5 God is in heaven, and men below,
   Be short our tunes; our words be few;
   A sacred rev’rence checks our songs,
   And praise sits silent on our tongues.

Hymn [LXXXII].

1 Praise ye the Lord: tis good to raise
   Our hearts and voices in his praise:
   His nature and his works invite,
   To make this duty our delight.

By Isaac Watts; appeared in CPH (1738), 45.
By Isaac Watts & Thomas Ken; this is an extract from CPH (1737), 10–11; stanzas 1–2, 4–8.
2 He form’d the stars, those heav’nly flames
    He counts their numbers, calls their names
    His wisdom’s vast, and knows no bound,
    A deep where all our thoughts are drown’d.

3 Sing to the Lord, exalt him high,
    Who spreads his clouds around the sky;
    There he prepares the fruitful rain,
    Nor lets the drops descend in vain.

4 He makes the grass the hills adorn,
    And cloaths the smiling fields with corn:
    The beasts with food his hands supply,
    And the young ravens when they cry.

5 What is the creature’s skill or force,
    The sprightly man or warlike horse?
    The piercing wit, the active limb:
    All are too mean delights for him.

6 But saints are lovely in his sight,
    He views his children with delight;
    He sees their hope, he knows their fear,
    And looks, and loves his image there.

7 Praise God, from whom all blessings flow;
    Praise him all creatures here below,
    Praise him above, ye heavenly host,
    Praise Father, Son, and Holy Ghost.

Hymn [LXXXIII].^97

1 Before Jehovah’s awful throne,
    Ye nations bow with sacred joy,
    Know that the Lord is God alone;
    He can create, and he destroy.

2 His sovereign power without our aid,
    Made us of clay, and form’d us men;
    And when like wand’ring sheep we stray’d,
    He brought us to his fold again.

^97By Isaac Watts; appeared in CPH (1737), 5–6.
3 We'll crowd thy gates with thankful songs,
High as the heavens our voices raise;
And earth with her ten thousand tongues
Shall fill thy courts with sounding praise.

4 Wide as the world is thy command,
Vast as eternity thy love:
Firm as a rock thy truth must stand
When rolling years shall cease to move.

Hymn [LXXXIV].

1 God of my life, whose gracious power,
Thro' various deaths my soul hath led,
Or turn'd aside the fatal hour,
Or lifted up my sinking head.

2 In all my ways, thy hand I own,
Thy ruling providence I see:
O help me still my course to run,
And still direct my paths to thee.

3 Foolish, and impotent, and blind,
Lead me a way I have not known,
Bring me where I my heaven may find
The heaven of loving thee alone.

4 Enlarge my heart to make thee room,
Enter, and in me ever stay;
The crooked then shall strait become,
The darkness shall be lost in day.

Hymn [LXXXV].

1 O God, my God, my all thou art
Ere shines the dawn of rising day,
Thy sovereign light within my heart,
Thine all inlivening power display.

99 JW’s translation of a Spanish hymn by Daniel Israel Lopez Laguna; first appeared in CPH (1738), 6–7.
100 Orig., “E’re”, but clearly used in sense of “before.”
2 For thee my thirsty soul does pant,
While in this desert land I live:
And hungry as I am, and faint,
Thy love alone can comfort give.

3 In a dry land behold I place
My whole desire on thee, O Lord:
And more I joy to gain thy grace
Than all earth’s treasures can afford.

4 In holiness within thy gates
Of old oft have I sought for thee:
Again my longing spirit waits
That fullness of delight to see.

5 More dear than life itself thy love,
My heart and tongue shall still employ,
And to declare thy praise will prove
My peace, my glory, and my joy.

6 In blessing thee with grateful songs
My happy life shall glide away;
The praise that to thy name belongs
Hourly with lifted hands I’ll pay.

7 Abundant sweetness while I sing
Thy love my ravish’d soul o’erflows,
Secure in thee, my God and King,
Of glory that no period knows.

8 Thy name, O Lord, upon my bed
Dwells on my lips, and fires my thought,
With trembling awe in midnight shade
I muse on all thine hands have wrought.

9 In all I do I feel thine aid;
Therefore thy greatness will I sing,
O God, who bid’st my heart be glad
Beneath the shadow of thy wing.

10 My soul draws nigh, and cleaves to thee;
Then let or earth or hell assail,
Thy mighty hand shall set me free,
For whom thou sav’st, he ne’er shall fail.
Hymn [LXXXVI].

1 O thou our husband, brother, friend,
Behold a cloud of incense rise,
The prayers of saints to heaven ascend,
Grateful unceasing sacrifice.

2 Regard our prayers for Sion’s peace,
Shed in our hearts thy love abroad;
Thy gifts abundantly increase,
Enlarge, and fill us all with God.

3 Before thy sheep, great shepherd go,
And guide into thy perfect will;
Cause us thy hallow’d name to know,
The work of faith with pow’r fulfil.

4 Help us to make our calling sure,
O! Let us all be saints indeed,
And pure as God himself is pure,
Conform’d in all things to our head.

5 Take the dear purchase of thy blood;
Thy blood shall wash us white as snow,
Present us sanctify’d to God,
And perfected in love below.

6 That blood which cleanses from all sin,
That efficacious blood apply,
And wash, and make us throughly clean,
And change, and wholly sanctify.

7 From all iniquity redeem,
Cleanse by the water and the word,
And free from ev’ry touch of blame,
And make the servants as their Lord.

8 Wash out the deep, orig’nal stain,
And make us glorious all within,
No wrinkle on our souls remain,
No smallest spot of inbred sin.

9 Then when the perfect life of love,
The bride and all her children live,
Come down, and take us from above,
And to thy heaven of heavens receive.

Hymn [LXXXVII]. ¹⁰²

1 Stay, thou insulted Spirit stay,
Tho’ I have done thee such despite,
Nor cast the sinner quite away,
Nor take thine everlasting flight.

2 Tho’ I have most unfaithful been,
Of all who e’er thy grace receiv’d,
Ten thousand times thy goodness seen,
Ten thousand times thy goodness griev’d.

3 Yet O! The chief of sinners spare,
In honour of my great high-priest,
Nor in thy right’ous anger swear
T’ exclude me from thy people’s rest.

4 If yet thou canst my sins forgive,
From now, O Lord, relieve my woes;
Into thy rest of love receive,
And bless me with the calm repose.

5 From now my weary soul release,
Up-raise me with thy grac’ous hand,
And guide into thy perfect peace,
And bring me to the promis’d land.

Hymn [LXXXVIII]. ¹⁰³

1 He comes, he comes, the judge severe,
The seventh trumpet speaks him near,
His lightnings flash, his thunders roll,
How welcome to the faithful soul.

¹⁰²This is an extract from HSP (1749), 1:86–87; stanzas 1, 3–4, 6–7.

2 From heaven angelic voices sound,
    See the Almighty Jesus crown’d,
    Girt with omnipotence and grace,
    And glory decks the Saviour’s face.

3 Decending on his azure throne,
    He claims the kingdoms for his own;
    The kingdoms all obey his word,
    And hail him their triumphant Lord.

4 Shout all the people of the sky,
    And all the saints of the Most High,
    Our Lord, who now his right obtains,
    For ever, and for ever reigns.

Hymn [LXXXIX].\(^{104}\)

1 Arm of the Lord, awake, awake!
    Thine own immortal strength put on:
    With terror cloath’d, the nations shake,
    And cast thy foes with fury down.
    Arise, as in the antient days,
    The sacred annals speak thy fame:
    Be now omnipotently near
    To endless ages still the same.

2 Thy tenfold vengeance knew to quell,
    And humble haughty Rahab’s pride,
    Groan’d her pale sons thy stroke to feel,
    The first-born victims groan’d and dy’d.
    The wounded dragon rag’d in vain
    While bold thine utmost plague to brave,
    Madly he dar’d the parted main,
    And sunk beneath th’ o’erwhelming wave.

3 He sunk; while Israel’s chosen race
    Triumphant urge their wond’rous way;
    Divinely led the fav’rites pass
    Th’ unwat’ry deep and empty’d sea

At distance heap’d on either hand,
Yielded a strange unbeaten road,
In chrystal walls the waters stand,
And own the arm of Israel’s God.

4 That arm which is not shortn’d now,
Which wants not now the power to save;
Still present with thy people thou
Bear’st them thro’ life’s disparted wave,
By earth and hell pursu’d in vain,
To thee the ransom’d seed shall come,
Shouting their heavenly Sion gain,
And pass thro’ death triumphant home.

5 The pain of life shall there be o’er,
The anguish, and distracting care,
There, sighs and griefs shall be no more,
And sin shall never enter there.
Where pure essential joy is found,
The Lord’s redeem’d their heads shall raise,
With everlasting gladness crown’d,
And fill’d with love, and lost in praise.

Hymn [XC].

1 He dies, the heavenly lover dies,
The tidings strike a doleful sound
On my poor heart-strings: deep he lies
In the cold caverns of the ground.
Come saints, and drop a tear or two,
On the dear bosom of your God;
He shed a thousand drops for you
A thousand drops of richer blood.

2 Here’s love and grief beyond degree,
The Lord of glory dies for men!
But lo, what sudden joys I see!
Jesus the dead revives again.

The rising God forsakes the tomb,
Up to his Father’s court he flies;
Cherubic legions guard him home,
And shout him welcome to the skies.

3 Break off your\textsuperscript{106} tears, ye saints, and tell
How high our great Deliverer reigns;
Sing how he spoil’d the hosts of hell,
And led the monster Death in chains.
Say, Live for ever, wond’rous King!
Born to redeem and strong to save!
Then ask the monster, Where’s his sting?
And where’s thy vict’ry boasting grave?

\textbf{Hymn [XCI].}\textsuperscript{107}

1 When shall thy lovely face be seen?
When shall our eyes behold our God?
What lengths of distance lye between?
And hills of guilt? A heavy load!

2 Ye heav’nly gates, loose all your chains,
Let the eternal pillars bow,
Blest Saviour, cleave the starry plains
And make the crystal mountains flow.

3 Hark! how thy saints unite their cries,
And pray and wait the general doom;
Come thou! the soul of all our joys
Thou, the desire of nations, come!

4 Our heart-strings groan with deep complaint,
Our flesh lies panting, Lord, for thee;
And every limb and every joint
Stretches for immortality.

5 Now let our chearful eyes survey
The blazing earth and melting hills;
And smile to see the lightnings play,
And flash along before thy wheels.

\textsuperscript{106}Orig., “you”; a misprint.

6 Hark! what a shout of violent joys
   Joins with the mighty trumpet’s sound!
The angel herald shakes the skies,
   Awakes the graves and tears the ground.

7 Ye slumb’ring saints, a heavenly host,
   Stands waiting at your gaping tombs;
Let ev’ry sacred, sleeping dust
   Leap into life; for Jesus comes.

8 Jesus, the God of might and love,
   New moulds our limbs of cumb’rous clay,
Quick as seraphick flames we move,
   To reign with him in endless day.

Hymn [XCII].

1 Our Lord is risen from the dead,
   Our Jesus is gone up on high,
The powers of hell are captive led,
   Drag’d to the portals of the sky.

2 There his triumphal chariot waits,
   And angels chaunt the solemn lay,
Lift up your heads, ye heavenly gates,
   Ye everlasting doors give way.

3 Loose all your bars of massy light,
   And wide unfold th’ ethereal scene;
He claims these mansions as his right,
   Receive the King of Glory in.

4 Who is this King of Glory, who?
The Lord that all his foes o’ercame,
The world, sin, death, and hell o’erthrew:
   And Jesus is the Conqueror’s name.

5 Lo! his triumphal chariot waits,
   And angels chaunt the solemn lay,
Lift up your heads, ye heavenly gates,
   Ye everlasting doors give way.

108 This is an extract from CPH (1743), 69–70; stanzas 8–13.
6 Who is the King of Glory, who?
The Lord of glorious power possest,
The King of saints and angels too,
God over all, for ever blest.

Hymn [XCIII].

1 When I survey the wond’rous cross,
On which the Prince of Glory dy’d,
My richest gain I count but loss,
And pour contempt on all my pride.
Forbid it, Lord, that I should boast,
Save in the death of Christ, my God:
All the vain things that charm me most,
I sacrifice them to his blood.

2 See from his head, his hands, his feet,
Sorrow and love, flow mingled down,
Did e’er such love and sorrow meet,
Or thorns compose so rich a crown.
Were the whole realm of nature mine,
That were a present far too small;
Love so amazing so divine
Demand my soul, my life, my all.

3 Thy sacrifice without the gate,
Once offer’d up we call to mind,
And humbly at thy altar wait,
Our interest in thy death to find,
We thirst to drink thy precious blood
We languish in thy wounds to rest,
And hunger for immortal food,
And long, on all thy love to feast.

4 Oh that we now thy flesh may eat
Its virtues really receive,
Impower’d by this immortal meat,
The life of holiness to live:

---

109 Stanzas 1–2 are by Isaac Watts, as found in CPH (1738), 39; stanzas 1–4. Stanzas 3–4 are an extract from Hymns on the Lord’s Supper (1745), 95; stanzas 2–3.
Partakers of thy sacrifice,
Oh may we all thy nature share
Till to the holiest place we rise
And keep the feast for ever there.

Hymn [XCIV].

1 Ah lovely appearance of death,
No sight upon earth is so fair?
Not all the gay pageants that breathe
Can with a dead body compare.
With solemn delight I survey
The corpse when the spirit is fled;
In love with the beautiful clay,
And longing to lie in its stead.

2 How blest is our brother, bereft
Of all that could burthen his mind,
How easy the soul that hath left
This wearisome body behind!
Of evil incapable thou,
Whose relics with envy I see,
No longer in misery now,
No longer a sinner like me.

3 This earth is affected no more
With sickness, or shaken with pain,
The war in the members is o’er,
And never shall vex him again:
No anger henceforward, or shame,
Shall redden this innocent clay,
Extinct is the animal flame,
And passion is vanish’d away.

4 The languishing head is at rest,
Its thinking and aching are o’er,
The quiet immoveable breast
Is heav’d by affliction no more:

---

110 First appeared in Funeral Hymns (1746), 7–8.
The heart is no longer the seat
Of trouble, and torturing pain:
It ceases to flutter and beat,
It never shall flutter again.

5 The lids he so seldom could close,
By sorrow forbidden to sleep,
Seal’d up in eternal repose,
Have strangely forgotten to weep:
The fountains can yield no supplies,
These hollows from water are free,
The tears are all wip’d from these eyes,
And evil they never shall see.

6 To mourn, and to suffer, is mine,
While bound in a prison I breathe,
And still for deliverance pine,
And press to the issues of death:
What now with my tears I bedew,
O might I this moment become,
My spirit created a-new,
My flesh be consign’d to the tomb.

Hymn [XCV].

1 Away with our sorrow and fear!
We soon shall recover our home;
The city of saints shall appear,
The day of eternity come:
From earth we shall quickly remove,
And mount to our native abodes,
The house of our Father above,
The palace of angels and God.

2 Our mourning is all at an end,
When rais’d by the life-giving Word,
We see the new city descend,
Adorn’d as a bride for her lord:

---

111 First appeared in Funeral Hymns (1746), 11–12.
The city so holy and clean
No sorrow can breathe in the air,
No gloom of affliction or sin,
No shadow of evil is there.

3 By faith we already behold
That lovely Jerusalem here!
Her walls are of jasper and gold,
As chrysal her buildings are clear:
Immoveably founded in grace
She stands, as she ever hath stood,
And brightly her builder displays,
And flames with the glory of God.

4 No need of the sun in that day
Which never is follow’d by night,
Where Jesus’s beauties display
A pure and a permanent light:
The Lamb is their light and their sun,
And lo! By reflexion they shine,
With Jesus ineffably one,
And bright in effulgence divine.

5 The saints in his presence receive
Their great and eternal reward,
In Jesus, in heaven they live,
They reign in the smile of their Lord:
The flame of angelical love
Is kindled at Jesus’s face,
And all the enjoyment above,
Consists in the rapturous gaze.

Hymn [XCVI].\textsuperscript{112}

1 The spacious firmament on high,
With all the blue, ethereal sky,
And spangled heavens a shining frame,
Their great original proclaim.

\textsuperscript{112}By Joseph Addison & Richard Steele; appeared in \textit{CPH} (1737), 59–60.
The unwearied sun, from day to day,
Does his Creator’s power display:
And publishes to every land
The work of an almighty hand.

2 Soon as the evening shades prevail,
The moon takes up the wond’rous tale,
And nightly to the listning earth,
Repeats the story of her birth,
Whilst all the stars that round her burn,
And all the planets in their turn,
Confirm the tidings as they rowl,
And spread the truth from pole to pole.

3 What tho’ in solemn silence all
Move round the dark terrestrial ball.
What tho’ no real voice nor sound
Amid their radient orbs be found.
In reason’s ear they all rejoice,
And utter forth a glorious voice,
For ever singing as they shine,
The hand that made us is divine.

Hymn [XCVII].

1 Thou, Jesu, art our King,
Thy ceaseless praise we sing:
Praise shall our glad tongue employ,
Praise o’erflow our grateful soul,
While we vital breath enjoy,
While eternal ages roll.

2 Thou art th’ eternal light,
Thou shin’st in deepest night.
Wond’ring gaz’d th’ angelic train,
While thou bowd’st the heavens beneath,
God with God wert man with man,
Man to save from endless death.

113 This is an extract from JW’s translation of a German hymn by Johann Scheffler, which first appeared in CPH (1738), 36–38; stanzas 1–3, 5–6, 11–13.
3 Thou for our pain didst mourn,
   Thou hast our sickness borne:114
All our sins on thee were laid;
   Thou with unexampled grace
All the mighty debt hast paid
   Due from Adam’s helpless race.

4 Enthron’d above yon sky
   Thou reign’st with God most high.
Prostrate at thy feet we fall:
   Power supreme to thee is given;
Thee, the righteous judge of all,
   Sons of earth, and hosts of heaven.

5 Cherubs with seraphs join,
   And in thy praise combine:
All their choirs thy glories sing:
   Who shall dare with thee to vie?
Mighty Lord, eternal King,
   Sovereign both of earth and sky!

6 Wide earth’s remotest bound
   Full of thy praise is found:
And all heaven’s eternal day
   With thy streaming glory flames:
All thy foes shall melt away
   From th’ insufferable beams.

7 O Lord, O God of love!
   Let us thy mercy prove!
King of all, with pitying eye
   Mark the toil, the pains we feel:
’Midst the snares of death we lie,
   ’Midst the banded powers of hell.

8 Arise, stir up thy power,
   Thou deathless Conqueror:
Help us to obtain the prize,
   Help us well to close our race;
That with thee above the skies
   Endless joy we may possess.

114Orig., “born.”
Hymn [XC VIII].

1 Arise, my soul, arise,
Thy Saviour’s sacrifice!
All the names that love could find,
All the forms that love could take,
Jesus in himself has join’d,
Thee, my soul, his own to make.

2 Equal with God most high,
He laid his glory by:
He, th’ eternal God was born,
Man with men he deign’d t’ appear,
Object of his creature’s scorn,
Pleas’d a servant’s form to wear.

3 Hail, everlasting Lord,
Divine, incarnate Word!
Thee let all my powers confess,
Thee my latest breath proclaim;
Help, ye angel choirs, to bless,
Shout the lov’d Immanuel’s name.

4 Fruit of a virgin’s womb,
The promis’d blessing’s come;
Christ the fathers’ hope of old,
Christ the Woman’s conqu’ring Seed,
Christ the Saviour! long foretold,
Born to bruise the serpent’s head.

5 Refulgent from afar
See the bright Morning-Star!
See the Day-Spring from on high,
Late in deepest darkness rise,
Night recedes, the shadows fly,
Flame with day the opening skies!

6 Our eyes on earth survey
The dazzling Shechinah!

Bright, in endless glory bright,
Now in flesh he stoops to dwell,
God of God, and light of light,
Image of th’ invisible.

7 He shines on earth ador’d,
The Presence of the Lord:
God the mighty God and true,
God by highest heaven confest,
Stands display’d to mortal view,
God supreme, for ever blest.

8 Jesu, to thee I bow
Th’ Almighty’s Fellow thou!
Thou, the Father’s only Son;
Pleas’d he ever is in thee,
Just and holy thou alone,
Full of grace and truth for me.

9 High above every name,
Jesus, the great I AM!
Bows to JESUS every knee,
Things in heaven, and earth, and hell,
Saints adore him, demons flee,
Fiends, and men, and angels feel.

10 He left his throne above,
Emptied of all but love:
Whom the heavens cannot contain
God vouchsaf’d a worm t’ appear,
Lord of glory, Son of man,
Poor, and vile, and abject here.

11 His own on earth he sought,
His own receiv’d him not:
Him, a sign by all blasphem’d
Outcast and despis’d of men,
Him they all a madman deem’d,
Bold to scoff the Nazarene.

12 Hail, Galilean King!
Thy humble state I sing!
Never shall my triumphs end,
    Hail, derided majesty!
Jesus, hail! the sinner’s friend,
    Friend of Publicans—and me!

13 Thine eye observ’d my pain,
    Thou good Samaritan!
Spoil’d I lay, and bruis’d by sin,
    Gasp’d my faint expiring soul,
Wine and oil thy love pour’d in,
    Clos’d my wounds, and made me whole.

14 Hail, the life-giving Lord,
    Divine, engrafted word,
Thee the Life my soul has found,
    Thee the Resurrection prov’d:
Dead I heard the quick’ning sound,
    Own’d the voice, believ’d, and lov’d.

15 With thee gone up on high
    I live, no more to die:
First and Last, I feel thee now,
    Witness of thy empty tomb,
Alpha and Omega thou
    Wast, and art, and art to come!

Hymn [XCIX].

1 Let heaven and earth agree
    The Father’s praise to sing,
Who draws us to the Son, that he
    May us to glory bring.

2 Honour and endless love
    Let God the Son receive,
Who saves us here, and prays above,
    That we with him may live.

3 Be everlasting praise
    To God the Spirit given,

117 First appeared in HSP (1740), 102–3.
Who now attests us sons of grace,
And seals us heirs of heaven.

4 Drawn, and redeem’d, and seal’d,
We’ll sing the One and Three,
With Father, Son, and Spirit fill’d
To all eternity.

Hymn [C].

1 The Lord Jehovah reigns,
His throne is built on high;
The garments he assumes
Are light and majesty,
His glories shine with beams so bright,
No mortal eye can bear the sight.

2 The thunders of his hand
Keep the wide world in awe;
His wrath and justice stand
To guard his holy law:
And where his love resolves to bless,
His truth confirms and seals the grace.

3 Thro’ all his mighty works,
Amazing wisdom shines;
Confounds the powers of hell,
And breaks their dark designs.
Strong is his arm, and shall fulfil
His great decrees and sovereign will.

4 And can this sovereign King
Of glory condescend,
And will he write his name,
My Father and my friend!
I love his name, I love his word,
Join all my powers to praise the Lord!

Hymn [CI].

1 Thou God of truth and love,
   We seek thy perfect way,
   Ready the choice t’ approve,
   Thy providence t’ obey,
   Enter into thy wise design,
   And sweetly lose our will in thine.

2 Why hast thou cast our lot
   In the same age and place,
   Or why together brought
   To see each other’s face,
   To join with softest sympathy,
   And mix our friendly souls in thee?

3 Didst thou not make us one,
   That both might one remain
   Together travel on,
   And bear each other’s pain,
   Till both thine utmost goodness prove,
   And rise renew’d in perfect love.

4 Surely thou didst unite
   Our kindred spirits here,
   That both hereafter might
   Before thy throne appear,
   Meet at the marriage of the Lamb,
   And all thy glorious love proclaim.

5 Then let us ever bear
   The blessed end in view,
   And join with mutual care
   To fight our passage thro’,
   And kindly help each other on,
   Till both receive the starry crown.

6 O might thy Spirit seal
   Our souls unto that day,

---

With all thy fulness fill,
   And then transport away,
Away to our eternal rest,
Away to our Redeemer’s breast.

7 There, only there we shall
   Fulfil thy great design,
And in thy praise with all
   Our elder brethren join,
And hymn in songs which never end
Our heavenly everlasting friend.

Hymn [CII].

1 Rejoice, the Lord is King!
   Your Lord and King adore,
Mortals, give thanks and sing,
   And triumph evermore:
Lift up your heart, lift up your voice,
Rejoice, again, I say, rejoice.

2 Jesus the Saviour reigns,
   The God of truth and love,
When he had purg’d our stains,
   He took his seat above:
Lift up your heart, lift up your voice,
Rejoice, again, I say, rejoice.

3 His kingdom cannot fail,
   He rules o’er earth and heaven,
The keys of death and hell
   Are to our Jesus given:
Lift up your heart, lift up your voice,
Rejoice, again, I say, rejoice.

4 He sits at God’s right-hand,
   Till all his foes submit,
And bow to his command,
   And fall beneath his feet.

Lift up your heart, lift up your voice,
Rejoice, again, I say, rejoice.

5    He all his foes shall quell,
     Shall all our sins destroy,
And every bosom swell
     With pure seraphick joy;
Lift up your heart, lift up your voice,
Rejoice, again, I say, rejoice.

6    Rejoice, in glorious hope,
     Jesus the judge shall come;
And take his servants up
     To their eternal home:
We soon shall hear th’ archangel’s voice,
The trump of God shall sound, Rejoice.

Hymn [CIII].

1    Father, Son, and Holy Ghost,
One in Three, and Three in One,
As by the celestial host,
Let thy will on earth be done:
Praise by all to thee be given,
Glorious Lord of earth and heaven.

2    If so poor a worm as I
May to thy great glory live,
All my actions sanctify
All my words, and thoughts receive:
Claim me for thy service, claim
All I have, and all I am.

3    Take my soul and body’s powers
Take my mem’ry, mind and will,
All my goods, and all my hours,
All I know, and all I feel,
All I think, and speak, and do;
Take my heart—but make it new.

---

121 This is an extract from Hymns on the Lord’s Supper (1745), 129–30; stanzas 1, 3–4, 6.
4 Father, Son, and Holy Ghost,
One in Three, and Three in One,
As by the celestial host,
Let thy will on earth be done:
Praise by all to thee be given,
Glorious Lord of earth and heaven.

Hymn [CIV].

1 Come, let us ascend,
   My companion, and friend,
To a taste of the banquet above:
   If thy heart be as mine,
   If for Jesus it pine,
Come up into the chariot of love.

2 Who in Jesus confide,
   We are bold to out-ride
The storms of affliction beneath,
   With the prophet we soar
   To that heavenly shore,
And outfly all the arrows of death.

3 By faith we are come
   To our permanent home,
By hope we the rapture improve,
   By love we still rise,
   And look down on the skies;
For the heaven of heavens is love.

4 Who on earth can conceive,
   How happy we live
In the city of God the great King!
   What a concert of praise
   When our Jesus’s grace
The whole heavenly company sing?

5 What a rapturous song,
   When the glorified throng

---

In the spirit of harmony join!
Join all the glad quires
Hearts, voices and lyres,
And the burthen is mercy divine!

6 Hallelujah they cry
To the King of the sky,
To the great everlasting I AM,
To the Lamb that was slain,
And liveth again,
Hallelujah to God, and the Lamb!

7 The Lamb on the throne
Lo! He dwells with his own,
And to rivers of pleasure he leads,
With his mercy’s full blaze,
With the sight of his face,
Our beatified spirits he feeds.

8 Our foreheads proclaim
His ineffable name,
Our bodies his glory display,
A day without night
We feast in his sight,
And eternity seems as a day!

Hymn [CV].

1 Thee, Jesu, thee the sinner’s friend,
I follow on to apprehend,
Renew the glorious strife,
Divinely confident and bold,
With faith’s strong arm on thee lay hold,
Thee, my eternal life.

2 Tell me, O Lord, if thine I am,
Tell me thy new, mysterious name,
Or thou shalt never move:
No, never will I let thee go,
’Till I thy name thy nature know,
And feel that God is love.

---

123First appeared in HSP (1742), 242–44.
3 I feel that I have power with God,
   Thou only hast the power bestow’d,
   And arm’d me for the fight:
   A prince thro’ thee invincible,
   I pray, and wrestle, and prevail,
   And conquer in thy might.

4 Thy heart, I know, thy tender heart
   Doth in my sorrows feel its part,
   And at my tears relent,
   My powerful sighs thou canst not bear,
   Nor stand the violence of my prayer,
   My prayer omnipotent.

5 Give me the grace, the love I claim,
   Thy Spirit now demands thy name,
   Thou know’st the Spirit’s will,
   He helps my soul’s infirmity,
   And strongly intercedes for me
   With groans unspeakable.

6 Answer, dear Lord, thy Spirit’s groan,
   O make to me thy nature known,
   Thy hidden name impart,
   (Thy title is with thee the same)
   Tell me thy nature and thy name,
   And write it on my heart.

7 Prisoner of hope, to thee I turn,
   And calmly confident I mourn,
   And pray, and weep for thee:
   Tell me thy love, thy secret tell,
   Thy mystic name in me reveal,
   Reveal thyself in me.

8 Descend, pass by me, and proclaim,
   O Lord of hosts, thy glorious name,
   The Lord, the gracious Lord,
   Long-suffering, merciful and kind,
   The God who always bears in mind
   His everlasting word.
Plenteous he is in truth and grace,
He wills that all the fallen race
Should turn, repent, and live;
His pard’ning grace for all is free,
Transgression, sin, iniquity,
He freely doth forgive.

Mercy he doth for thousands keep,
He goes, and seeks the one lost sheep,
And brings his wanderer home;
And every soul that sheep might be:—
Come then, dear Lord, and gather me,
My Jesus, quickly come.

Take me into thy people’s rest,
O come, and with my sole request,
My one desire comply,
Make me partaker of my hope,
Then bid me get me quickly up,
And on thy bosom die.

Hymn [CVI].

O love divine, how sweet thou art!
When shall I find my willing heart
All taken up by thee!
I thirst, and faint, and die to prove,
The greatness of redeeming love,
The love of Christ to me.

Stronger his love than death or hell;
Its riches are unsearchable;
The first born sons of light
Desire in vain its depth to see,
They cannot reach the mystery,
The length, and breadth, and height.

God only knows the love of God;
O that it now was shed abroad
In this poor stony heart!

---

For love I sigh, for love I pine:
This only portion, Lord, be mine,
Be mine this better part.

4 O that I could for ever sit,
With Mary at the Master’s feet!
Be this my happy choice,
My only care, delight, and bliss,
My joy, my heaven on earth be this
To hear the Bridegroom’s voice.

5 O that with humbled Peter I
Could weep, believe, and thrice reply
My faithfulness to prove,
Thou knowst (for all to thee is known)
Thou knowst, O Lord, and thou alone,
Thou knowst that thee I love.

6 O that I could with favour’d John
Recline my weary head upon
The dear Redeemer’s breast!
From care, and sin, and sorrow free
Give me, O Lord, to find in thee
My everlasting rest.

7 Thy only love do I require,
Nothing in earth beneath desire,
Nothing in heaven above;
Let earth, and heaven, and all things go,
Give me thy only love to know,
Give me thy only love.

Hymn [CVII].

1 Thou God of glorious majesty,
To thee against myself, to thee
A worm of earth I cry,
An half awaken’d child of man,
An heir of endless bliss or pain,
A sinner born to die.

2 Lo! On a narrow neck of land,
'Twixt two unbounded seas I stand
Secure, insensible:
A point of life, a moment’s space
Removes me to that heavenly place,
Or shuts me up in hell.

3 O God, mine inmost soul convert,
And deeply on my thoughtful heart
Eternal things impress,
Give me to feel their solemn weight,
And tremble on the brink of fate,
And wake to righteousness.

4 Before me place in dread array
The pomp of that tremendous day,
When thou with clouds shalt come
to judge the nations at thy bar:
And tell me, Lord, shall I be there
To meet a joyful doom?

5 Be this my one great business here,
With serious industry, and fear,
My future bliss t’ insure,
Thine utmost counsel to fulfil,
And suffer all thy righteous will,
And to the end endure.

6 Then, Saviour, then my soul receive,
Transported from this vale, to live,
And reign with thee above,
Where faith is sweetly lost in sight,
And hope in full supreme delight,
And everlasting love.

Hymn [CVIII].

1 Lo, God is here, let us adore
   And own how dreadful is this place!
Let all within us feel his power,
   And silent bow before his face.
Who know his power, his grace who prove,
Serve him with awe, with rev’rence love.

126 JW’s translation of a German hymn by Gerhard Tersteegen, which first appeared in HSP (1739), 188–89. Appears here as revised in All in All (1761), 21–22.
2 Lo, God is here! Him day and night
    Th' united choirs of angels sing:
To him enthron’d above all height,
    Heaven’s host their noblest praises bring:
Disdain not, Lord, our meaner song,
Who praise thee with a stamm’ring tongue.

3 Gladly the toys of earth we leave,
    Wealth, pleasure, fame, for thee alone:
To thee our will, soul, flesh we give;
    O take, O seal them for thine own.
Thou art the God: thou art the Lord:
Be thou by all thy works ador’d!

4 Being of beings, may our praise
    Thy courts with grateful fragrance fill,
Still may we stand before thy face,
    Still hear and do thy sovereign will:
To thee may all our thoughts arise,
Ceaseless, accepted sacrifice!

5 In thee we move: all things of thee
    Are full, thou source and life of all!
Thou vast, unfathomable sea!
    Fall prostrate, lost in wonder, fall,
Ye sons of men; for God is man!
All may we lose, so thee we gain!

6 As flow’rs their op’ning leaves display,
    And glad drink in the solar fire,
So may we catch thy every ray,
    So may thy influence us inspire;
Thou beam of the eternal beam!
Thou purging fire, thou quick’ning flame!

Hymn [CIX].^{127}

1 Father of light, from whom proceeds
Whate’er thy every creature needs,
Whose goodness providently nigh
Feeds the young ravens when they cry;

---

^{127}First appeared in HSP (1739), 85–86.
To thee I look; my heart prepare,
Suggest, and hearken to my prayer.

2 Since by thy light myself I see
Naked, and poor, and void of thee,
Thine eyes must all my thoughts survey,
Preventing what my lips would say:
Thou seest my wants; for help they call,
And ere128 I speak, thou know’st them all.

3 Thou know’st the baseness of my mind
Wayward, and impotent, and blind,
Thou know’st how unsubdu’d my will,
Averse to good, and prone to ill:
Thou know’st how wide my passions rove,
Nor check’d by fear, nor charm’d by love.

4 Fain would I know, as known by thee,
And feel the indigence I see;
Fain would I all my vileness own,
And deep beneath the burden groan,
Abhor the pride that lurks within,
Detest and loath myself and sin.

5 Ah, give me, Lord, myself to feel,
My total misery reveal:
Ah, give me Lord, (I still would say)
A heart to mourn, a heart to pray;
My business this, my only care,
My life, my every breath be prayer.

6 Scarce I begin my sad complaint,
When all my warmest wishes faint;
Hardly I lift my weeping eye,
When all my kindling ardors die;
Nor hopes, nor fears my bosom move,
For still I cannot, cannot love.

7 Father, I want a thankful heart;
I want to taste how good thou art,
To plunge me in thy mercy’s sea,
And comprehend thy love to me;

128Orig., “e’er”; but clearly used in sense of “before.”
The breadth, and length, and depth, and height
Of love divinely infinite.

8 Father, I long my soul to raise,
And dwell for ever on thy praise,
Thy praise with glorious joy to tell,
In exstasy unspeakable:
While the full power of faith I know,
And reign triumphant here below.

Hymn [CX].

1 The Lord my pasture shall prepare,
And feed me with a shepherd’s care,
His presence shall my wants supply,
And guard me with a watchful eye;
My noon-day walks he shall attend,
And all my midnight hours defend.

2 When in the sultry glebe I faint,
Or on the thirsty mountain pant,
To fertile vales, and dewy meads
My weary, wandering steps he leads;
Where peaceful rivers soft and slow,
Amid the verdant landskip flow.

3 Tho’ in the paths of death I tread,
With gloomy horrors overspread,
My stedfast heart shall fear no ill,
For thou, O Lord, art with me still;
Thy friendly crook shall give me aid,
And guide me thro’ the dreadful shade.

4 Tho’ in a bare and rugged way,
Thro’ devious, lonely wilds I stray,
Thy bounty shall my pains beguile:
The barren wilderness shall smile,
With sudden greens and herbage crown’d,
And streams shall murmur all around.

Hymn [CXI].

1 Jesu, thy boundless love to me
   No thought can reach, no tongue declare:
   O knit my thankful heart to thee,
   And reign without a rival there:
   Thine wholly, thine alone I am:
   Be thou alone my constant flame.

2 O grant that nothing in my soul
   May dwell, but thy pure love alone:
   O may thy love possess me whole,
   My joy, my treasure, and my crown.
   Strange fires far from my soul remove,
   My every act, word, thought, be love.

3 O love, how chearing is thy ray?
   All pain before thy presence flies!
   Care, anguish, sorrow, melt away,
   Where’er thy healing streams arise:
   O Jesu, nothing may I see,
   Nothing hear, feel, or think but thee!

4 Unwearied may I this pursue,
   Dauntless to the high prize aspire;
   Hourly within my breast renew
   This holy flame, this heavenly fire;
   And day and night be all my care
   To guard this sacred treasure there.

5 My Saviour, thou thy love to me
   In want, in pain, in shame hast show’d;
   For me on the accursed tree
   Thou poured’st forth thy guiltless blood:
   Thy wounds upon my heart impress,
   Nor ought shall the lov’d stamp efface.

6 More hard than marble is my heart,
   And foul with sins of deepest stain:

---

JW’s translation of a German hymn by Paul Gerhardt, which first appeared in HSP (1739), 156–59.
But thou the mighty Saviour art,
    Nor flow’d thy cleansing blood in vain.
Ah! Soften, melt this rock, and may
Thy blood wash all these stains away.

7  O that my heart, which open stands,
    May catch each drop, that torturing pain,
Arm’d by my sins, wrung from thy hands,
    Thy feet, thy head, thy every vein:
That still my breast may heave with sighs,
Still tears of love o’erflow my eyes.

8  O that I as a little child
    May follow thee, nor ever rest,
’Till sweetly thou hast pour’d thy mild
    And lowly mind into my breast.
Nor ever may we parted be,
’Till I become one spirit with thee.

9  O draw me, Saviour, after thee,
    So shall I run and never tire:
With gracious words still comfort me;
    Be thou my hope, my sole desire:
Free me from every weight: nor fear
Nor sin can come, if thou art here.

10 My health, my light, my life, my crown,
    My portion, and my treasure thou!
O take me, seal me for thine own;
    To thee alone my soul I bow;
Without thee all is pain, my mind
Repose in nought but thee can find.

11 Howe’er I rove, where’er I turn,
    In thee alone is all my rest:
Be thou my flame: within me burn,
    Jesu, and I in thee am blest.
Thou art the balm of life: my soul
Is faint; O save, O make it whole!

12 What in thy love possess I not?
    My star by night, my sun by day,
My spring of life when parch’d with drought,
   My wine to cheer, my bread to stay,
My strength, my shield, my safe abode,
   My robe before the throne of God!

13 Ah love! Thy influence withdrawn,
    What profits me that I am born?
All my delight, my joy is gone,
    Nor know I peace ’till thou return:
Thee may I seek ’till I attain;
    And never may we part again.

14 From all eternity with love
    Unchangeable thou hast me view’d;
E’er knew this beating heart to move,
    Thy tender mercies me pursu’d:
Ever with me may they abide,
    And close me in on every side.

15 Still let thy love point out my way,
    (How wondrous things thy love hath wrought!)
Still lead me, lest I go astray,
    Direct my work, inspire my thought:
And when I fall, soon may I hear
    Thy voice, and know that love is near.

16 In suff’ring be thy love my peace,
    In weakness be thy love my power:
And when the storms of life shall cease,
    Jesu, in that important hour,
In death as life be thou my guide,
    And save me, who for me hast died!

Hymn [CXII].

1 Thee will I love, my strength, my tower,
   Thee will I love, my joy, my crown,
Thee will I love with all my power,
   In all my works, and thee alone!

131JW’s translation of a German hymn by Johann Scheffler, which first appeared in HSP (1739), 198–200.
Thee will I love 'till the pure fire
Fill my whole soul with chaste desire.

2 Ah! why did I so late thee know,
   Thee, lovelier than the sons of men?
Ah, why did I no sooner go
   To thee, the only ease in pain;
Asham’d I sigh, and inly mourn
That I so late to thee did turn.

3 In darkness willingly I stray’d;
   I sought thee, yet from thee I rov’d:
Far wide my wandring thoughts were spread,
   Thy creatures more than thee I lov’d:
And now, if more at length I see,
   'Tis thro’ thy light, and comes from thee.

4 I thank thee, uncreated Sun,
   That thy bright beams on me have shin’d:
I thank thee, who hast overthrown
   My foes, and heal’d my wounded mind.
I thank thee, whose enliv’ning voice
   Bids my freed heart in thee rejoice.

5 Uphold me in the doubtful race,
   Nor suffer me again to stray:
Strengthen my feet, with steady pace,
   Still to press forward in thy way:
My soul and flesh, O Lord of might,
   Fill, satiate with thy heav’nly light.

6 Give to my eyes refreshing tears,
   Give to my heart chaste, hallow’d fires,
Give to my soul with filial fears
   The love that all heaven’s host inspires:
That all my pow’rs with all their might
   In thy sole glory may unite.

7 Thee will I love, my joy, my crown;
   Thee will I love, my Lord, my God;
Thee will I love, beneath thy frown
Or smile, thy scepter or thy rod:
What tho’ my flesh and heart decay?
Thee shall I love in endless day!

Hymn [CXIII].\textsuperscript{132}

1 O love divine, what hast thou done?
Th’ immortal God hath died for me!
The Father’s, co eternal Son
Bore all my sins upon the tree;
Th’ immortal God for me hath died!
My Lord, my love is crucified!

2 Behold him all ye that pass by,
The bleeding Prince of life and peace;
Come see, ye worms, your Maker die,
And say, was ever grief like his!
Come, feel with me his blood applied:
My Lord, my love is crucified!

3 Is crucified for me and you,
To bring us rebels near to God;
Believe, believe the record true:
We all are bought with Jesu’s blood:
Pardon for all flows from his side,
My Lord, my love is crucified.

4 Then let us\textsuperscript{133} sit beneath his cross,
And gladly catch the healing stream,
All things for him account but loss,
And give up all our hearts to him;
Of nothing speak or think beside:
My Lord, my love is crucified!

Hymn [CXIV].

1 O God of our forefathers hear,
   And make thy faithful mercies known,
To thee thro’ Jesus we draw near,
   Thy suffering, well-beloved Son,
In whom thy smiling face we see,
   In whom thou art well-pleas’d with me.

2 With solemn faith we offer up,
   And spread before thy glorious eyes
That only ground of all our hope,
   That precious, bleeding sacrifice,
Which brings thy grace on sinners down,
   And perfects all our souls in one.

3 Acceptance thro’ his only name,
   Forgiveness in his blood we have;
But more abundant life we claim
   Thro’ him who died our souls to save,
To sanctify us by his blood,
   And fill with all the life of God.

4 Father, behold thy dying Son,
   And hear his blood that speaks above,
On us let all thy grace be shewn,
   Peace, righteousness, and joy, and love,
Thy kingdom come to every heart,
   And all thou hast, and all thou art.

Hymn [CXV].

1 Thou hidden source of calm repose,
   Thou all-sufficient love divine,
My help, and refuge from my foes,
   Secure I am, if thou art mine,
And lo! From sin, and grief, and shame
   I hide me, Jesus, in thy name.

134 First appeared in Hymns on the Lord’s Supper (1745), 106.
2 Thy mighty name salvation is,
And keeps my happy soul above,
Comfort it brings, and power, and peace,
And joy, and everlasting love:
To me with thy dear name are given
Pardon, and holiness, and heaven.

3 Jesu, my all in all thou art,
My rest in toil, my ease in pain,
The med’cine of my broken heart,
In war my peace, in loss my gain,
My smile beneath the tyrant’s frown,
In shame my glory, and my crown.

4 In want my plentiful supply,
In weakness my almighty power,
In bonds my perfect liberty,
In war my peace, in loss my gain,
In grief my joy unspeakable,
My life in death, my heaven in hell.

Hymn [CXVI].

1 Thou hidden love of God, whose height,
Whose depth unfathom’d no man knows,
I see from far thy beauteous light,
Inly I sigh for thy repose:
My heart is pain’d, nor can it be
At rest, ’till it finds rest in thee.

2 Thy secret voice invites me still
The sweetness of thy yoke to prove;
And fain I would: but tho’ my will
Seem fix’d, yet wide my passions rove;
Yet hindrances strew all the way;
I aim at thee, yet from thee stray.

3 ’Tis mercy all, that thou hast brought
My mind to seek her peace in thee!

---

136J W’s translation of a German hymn by Gerhard Tersteegen, which first appeared in CPH (1738), 51–53. Appears here as revised in Hymns and Spiritual Songs (1753), 4–5.
Yet while I seek, but find thee not,
   No peace my wandring soul shall see,
O when shall all my wandrings end,
And all my steps to thee-ward tend?

4 Is there a thing beneath the sun,
    That strives with thee my heart to share?
Ah! tear it thence, and reign alone,
    The Lord of every motion there:
Then shall my heart from earth be free,
    When it has found repose in thee.

5 O hide this SELF from me, that I
    No more, but Christ in me may live!
My vile affections crucify,
    Nor let one darling lust survive.
In all things nothing may I see,
    Nothing desire or seek but thee.

6 O LOVE, thy sovereign aid impart,
    To save me from low-thoughted care:
Chase this self-will thro’ all my heart,
    Thro’ all its latent mazes there:
Make me thy duteous child, that I
    Ceaseless may Abba Father cry.

7 Ah no! ne’er will I backward turn:
    Thine wholly, thine alone I am!
Thrice happy he, who views with scorn
    Earth’s toys, for thee his constant flame.
O help, that I may never move
    From the blest footsteps of thy love!

8 Each moment draw from earth away
    My heart, that lowly waits thy call!
Speak to my inmost soul, and say,
    I am thy love, thy God, thy all!
To feel thy power, to hear thy voice,
    To taste thy love be all my choice.
Hymn [CXVII].

1 Sinners, rejoice, your peace is made;
Your Saviour on the cross hath bled:
Your God in Jesus reconcil’d
On all his works again hath smil’d:
Hath grace thro’ Christ and blessing given,
To all on earth and all in heaven:

2 Angels rejoice in Jesu’s grace,
And vie with man’s more favour’d race,
The blood that did for us attone,
Confer’d on you some gift unknown,
Your joys, thro’ Jesu’s pains abound,
Ye triumph by his glorious wounds.

3 Him ye beheld our conqu’ring God,
Return with garments roll’d in blood!
Ye saw, and kindled at the sight,
And fill’d with shouts the realms of light,
With loudest hallelujahs met,
And fell and kiss’d his bleeding feet.

4 Nor angel tongues can e’er express
Th’ unutterrable happiness,
Nor human hearts can e’er conceive,
The bliss wherein thro’ Christ they live;
But all your heaven the glorious powers,
And all your God, is doubly ours!

Hymn [CXVIII].

1 Faint is my head, and sick my heart,
While thou dost ever, ever stay!
Fixt in my soul I feel thy dart,
Groaning I feel it night and day:
Come, Lord, and shew thyself to me,
Or take, O take me up to thee?

137This is an extract from Ascension Hymns (1746), 10–11; stanzas 1–2, 4, 7.
138By George Herbert; appeared in HSP (1739), 70–72.
Canst thou with-hold thy healing grace,
So kindly lavish of thy blood;
When swiftly trickling down thy face,
For me the purple current flow’d!
Come, Lord, [and shew thyself to me,
Or take, O take me up to thee?]

When man was lost, LOVE look’d about,
To seek what help in earth or sky:
In vain: for none appear’d without;
The help did in thy bosom lie!
Come, Lord, [and shew thyself to me,
Or take, O take me up to thee?]

There lay thy Son: but left his rest
Thraldom and mis’ry to remove
From those who glory once possest,
But wantonly abus’d thy love.
Come, Lord, [and shew thyself to me,
Or take, O take me up to thee?]

He came—O my Redeemer dear!
And canst thou after this be strange?
Not yet within my heart appear?
Can love like thine or fail, or change?
Come, Lord, [and shew thyself to me,
Or take, O take me up to thee?]

But if thou tarriest, why must I?
My God, what is this world to me!
This world of woe—hence let them fly,
The clouds that part my soul and thee.
Come, Lord, [and shew thyself to me,
Or take, O take me up to thee?]

Why should this weary world delight,
Or sense th’ immortal Spirit bind?
Why should frail beauty’s charms invite,
The trifling charms of womankind?
Come, Lord, [and shew thyself to me,
Or take, O take me up to thee?]

A sigh thou breath’st into my heart,
And earthly joys I view with scorn:

Orig., ends this and next eleven stanzas: “Come, Lord, &c.”
Far from my soul, ye dreams, depart,
    Nor mock me with your vain return!
Come, Lord, [and shew thyself to me,
Or take, O take me up to thee?]

9  Sorrow, and sin, and loss, and pain,
    Are all that here on earth we see;
Restless, we pant for ease in vain,
    In vain—’till ease we find in thee.
Come, Lord, [and shew thyself to me,
Or take, O take me up to thee?]

10  Idly we talk of harvests here,
    Eternity our harvest is:
Grace brings the great sabbatic year,
    When ripen’d into glorious bliss.
Come, Lord, [and shew thyself to me,
Or take, O take me up to thee?]

11  O loose this frame, life’s knot untie,
    That my free soul may use her wing;
Now pinion’d with mortality,
    A weak, entangled, wretched thing!
Come, Lord, [and shew thyself to me,
Or take, O take me up to thee?]

12  Why should I longer stay and groan?
    The most of me to heaven is fled:
My thoughts and joys are thither gone:
    To all below I now am dead.
Come, Lord, [and shew thyself to me,
Or take, O take me up to thee?]

13  Come, dearest Lord, my soul’s desire,
    With eager pantings gasps for home:
Thee, thee my restless hopes require;
    My flesh and spirit bid thee come!
Come, Lord, [and shew thyself to me,
Or take, O take me up to thee?]
Hymn [CXIX].

1 O what shall I do my Saviour to praise?
So faithful and true, so plenteous in grace?
So strong to deliver, so good to redeem
The weakest believer that hangs upon him.

2 How happy the man whose heart is set free,
The people that can be joyful in thee!
Their joy is to walk in the light of thy face,
And still they are talking of Jesus’s grace.

3 Their daily delight shall be in thy name,
They shall as their right thy righteousness claim:
Thy righteousness wearing and cleans’d by thy blood,
Bold shall they appear in the presence of God.

4 For thou art their boast, their glory and power,
And I also trust to see the glad hour,
My soul’s new creation, a life from the dead,
The day of salvation, that lifts up my head.

5 For Jesus my Lord is now my defence,
I trust in his word, none plucks me from thence:
Since I have found favour, he all things will do,
My King and my Saviour shall make me anew.

6 Yes, Lord, I shall see the bliss of thine own,
Thy secret to me shall soon be made known,
For sorrow and sadness I joy shall receive,
And share in the gladness of all that believe.

Hymn [CXX].141

1 All thanks to the Lamb who gives us to meet!
    His love we proclaim, his praises repeat;
    We own him our Jesus continually near,
    To pardon, and bless us, and perfect us here.

2 In him we have peace, in him we have power,
    Preserv’d by his grace throughout the dark hour,
    In all our temptation he keeps us to prove
    His utmost salvation, his fulness of love.

3 Thro’ pride and desire unhurt we have gone,
    Thro’ water and fire with us he went on?
    The world and the devil by him we o’ercame,
    Our Jesus from evil, for ever the same.

4 When we would have spurn’d his mercy and grace,
    To Egypt return’d and fled from his face,
    He hindred our flying, (his goodness to shew)
    And stopt us by crying, “Will ye also go?”

5 O what shall we do, our Saviour to love?
    To make us anew, come Lord, from above,
    The fruit of thy passion, thy holiness give,
    Give us the salvation of all that believe.

6 Come, Jesus, and loose the stammerer’s tongue,
    And teach even us the spiritual song,
    Let us without ceasing give thanks for thy grace:
    And glory, and blessing, and honour, and praise.

7 Pronounce the glad word, and bid us be free:
    Ah, hast thou not, Lord, a blessing for me?
    The peace thou hast given, this moment impart,
    And open thy heaven, of love, in my heart.

---

Hymn [CXXI].

1 'Tis finish’d! 'Tis done!
The spirit is fled,
The pris’ner is gone,
The Christian is dead!
The Christian is living
Thro’ Jesus his love,
And gladly receiving
A kingdom above.

2 All honour and praise
Are Jesus’s due;
Supported by grace,
He fought his way thro’;
Triumphantly glorious
Thro’ Jesus’s zeal,
And more than victorious
O’er sin, death, and hell.

3 Then let us record
The conquering name,
Our Captain and Lord
With shoutings proclaim:
Who trust in his passion
And follow our head,
To certain salvation
We all shall be led.

4 O Jesus, lead on
Thy militant care,
And give us the crown
Of righteousness there;
Where dazled with glory
The seraphims gaze,
Or prostrate adore thee
In silence of praise.

142 First appeared in Funeral Hymns (1746), 8–9.
5 Come, Lord, and display
   Thy sign in the sky,
   And bear us away
   To mansions on high:
   The kingdom be given,
   The purchase divine,
   And crown us in heaven
   Eternally thine.

Hymn [CXXII].

1 Ye servants of God,
   Your Master proclaim,
   And publish abroad
   His wonderful name.
   The name all-victorious
   Of Jesus extoll;
   His kingdom is glorious,
   And rules over all.

2 The waves of the sea
   Have lift up their voice,
   Sore troubled that we
   In Jesus rejoice;
   The floods they are roaring,
   But Jesus is here,
   While we are adoring,
   He always is near.

3 Men, devils engage,
   The billows arise,
   And horribly rage,
   And threaten the skies:
   Their fury shall never
   Our stedfastness shock,
   The weakest believer
   Is built on a Rock.

4 God ruleth on high,
   Almighty to save,
And still he is nigh,
    His presence we have;
The great congregation
    His triumphs shall sing,
Ascribing salvation
    To Jesus our King.

5 Salvation to God
    Who sits on the throne!
Let all cry aloud,
    And honour the Son!
Our Jesus’s praises
    The angels proclaim,
Fall down on their faces,
    And worship the Lamb.

6 Then let us adore,
    And give him his right,
All glory, and power,
    And wisdom, and might,
All honour, and blessing,
    With angels above,
And thanks never ceasing,
    And infinite love.

_Hymn [CXXIII]. 144_

1 God of unexampled grace,
    Redeemer of mankind,
Matter of eternal praise
    We in thy Passion find:
Still our choicest strains we bring,
    Still the joyful theme pursue,
Thee the friend of sinners sing
    Whose love is ever new.

2 Endless scenes of wonder rise
    With that mysterious tree,
Crucified before our eyes
    Where we our Maker see:

144This is an extract from Hymns on the Lord’s Supper (1745), 16–18; stanzas 1–3.
Jesus, Lord, what hast thou done!
Publish we the death divine,
Stop, and gaze, and fall, and own
Was never love like thine!

3 Never love nor sorrow was,
   Like that my Jesus shew’d;
See him stretch’d on yonder cross
   And crush’d beneath our load!
Now discern the deity,
   Now his heavenly birth declare!
Faith cries out, ’Tis he, ’tis he,
   My God that suffers there!

Hymn [CXXIV].

1 Jesus drinks the bitter cup:
   The wine-press treads alone,
Tears the graves and mountains up
   By his expiring groan:
Lo! The powers of heaven he shakes;
   Nature in convulsions lies,
Earth’s profoundest centre quakes,
   The great Jehovah dies!

2 Dies the glorious cause of all,
   The true eternal Pan,
Falls to raise us from our fall,
   To ransom sinful man:
Well may Sol withdraw his light,
   With the sufferer sympathize,
Leave the world in sudden night,
   While his Creator dies.

[3] Well may heaven be cloath’d with black,
   And solemn sackcloath wear,
Jesu’s agony partake,
   The hour of darkness share;

145This is an extract from Hymns on the Lord’s Supper (1745), 16–18; stanzas 4–9.
146Orig., “4”; a misprint.
Mourn th’ astonied hosts above,
    Silence saddens all the skies,
Kindler of seraphic love
    The God of angels dies.

4 O, my God, he dies for me,
    I feel the mortal smart!
See him hanging on the tree—
    A sight that breaks my heart!
O that all to thee might turn!
    Sinners, ye may love him too,
Look on him ye pierc’d, and mourn
    For one who bled for you.

5 Weep o’er your desire and hope
    With tears of humblest love;
Sing, for Jesus is gone up,
    And reigns enthron’d above!
Lives our head to die no more:
    Power is all to Jesus given,
Worship’d as he was before
    Th’ immortal King of heaven.

6 Lord, we bless thee for thy grace,
    And truth which never fail,
Hast’ning to behold thy face
    Without a dimming veil.
We shall see our heavenly King,
    All thy glorious love proclaim,
Help the angel-quires to sing
    Our dear triumphant Lamb.

Hymn [CXXV].

1 Jesu, let thy pitying eye
    Call back a wandring sheep,
False to thee like Peter I
    Would fain like Peter weep:
Let me be by grace restor’d,
On me be all long suffering shewn;
   Turn, and look upon me, Lord,
   And break my heart of stone.

2  Saviour, Prince, enthron’d above,
    Repentance to impart,
    Give me thro’ thy dying love
    The humble, contrite heart:
    Give what I have long implor’d,
    A portion of thy grief unknown;
    Turn, and look [upon me, Lord,
    And break my heart of stone.]

3  In restoring love again,
    O Jesus, visit me,
    Give me back that pleasing pain,
    That blessed misery:
    Now thy tendering grace afford,
    And make me thine afflicted one:
    Turn, and look [upon me, Lord,
    And break my heart of stone.]

4  Harder than the flinty rock
    My stubborn heart remains,
    'Till I feel thy mercy’s stroke,
    I only bite my chains,
    Sinning on, though self-abhor’d,
    As devils in their chains I groan:
    Turn, and look [upon me, Lord,
    And break my heart of stone.]

5  For thine own compassion’s sake
    The gracious wonder shew,
    Cast my sins behind thy back,
    And wash me white as snow;
    If thy bowels now are stir’d,
    If now I would myself bemoan?
    Turn, and look [upon me, Lord,
    And break my heart of stone.]

6  See me, Saviour, from above,
    Nor suffer me to die,
    Life, and happiness, and love
    Drop from thy gracious eye;

148 Orig., ends this and next nine stanzas: “Turn, and look, &c.”
Speak the reconciling word,
And let thy mercy melt me down;
Turn, and look [upon me, Lord,
And break my heart of stone.]

Look, as when thine eye pursu’d
The first apostate man,
Saw him weltring in his blood,
And bid him rise again;
Speak my paradise restor’d,
Restor’d by thy free grace alone:
Turn, and look [upon me, Lord,
And break my heart of stone.]

Look, as when thy pity saw
Thine own in a strange land,
Forc’d to obey the tyrant’s law,
And feel his heavy hand:
Speak the soul redeeming word,
And out of Egypt call thy son:
Turn, and look [upon me, Lord,
And break my heart of stone.]

Look, as when thy weeping eye
The bloody city view’d,
Those, who ston’d, and doom’d to die
The prophets, and their God:
I deserve their sad reward,
But this my gracious day I own:
Turn, and look [upon me, Lord,
And break my heart of stone.]

Look, as when thy grace beheld
The harlot in distress,
Dried her tears, her pardon seal’d;
And bad her go in peace:
Foul like her, and self abhor’d,
I at thy feet for mercy groan:
Turn, and look [upon me, Lord,
And break my heart of stone.]

Look, as when condemn’d for them
Thou didst thy followers see,
“Daughters of Jerusalem,
Weep for yourselves, not me!”
Am I by my God deplor’d,
And shall I not myself bemoan?

Turn, and look [upon me, Lord,
And break my heart of stone.]}

12 Look, as when thy languid eye
Was clos’d that we might live,
Father (at the point to die
My Saviour gasp’d) forgive!
Surely with that dying word
He turns, and looks, and cries ’Tis done!
O my bleeding loving Lord,
Thou break’st my heart of stone!

Hymn [CXXVI].

1 Lamb of God, whose bleeding love
We now recal to mind,
Send the answer from above,
And let us mercy find;
Think on us, who think on thee,
And every struggling soul release:
O remember Calvary,
And bid us go in peace.

2 By thine agonizing pain,
And bloody sweat, we pray,
By thy dying love to man,
Take all our sins away;
Burst our bonds, and set us free,
From all iniquity release:
O remember Calvary,
And bid us go in peace.

3 Let thy blood, by faith applied,
The sinner’s pardon seal,
Speak us freely justified,
And all our sickness heal:
By thy Passion on the tree
Let all our griefs and troubles cease:

---

149 First appeared in Hymns on the Lord’s Supper (1745), 15.
O remember Calvary,
    And bid us go in peace.

4 Never will we hence depart,
    Till thou our wants relieve,
Write forgiveness on our heart,
    And all thine image give:
Still our souls shall cry to thee
    Till perfected in holiness:
O remember Calvary,
    And bid us go in peace.

Hymn [CXXVII].\(^{150}\)

1 Wretched, helpless, and distrest,
    Ah! Whither shall I fly!
Ever gasping after rest,
    I cannot find it nigh,
Naked, sick, and poor, and blind,
    Fast bound in sin and misery,
Friend of sinners, let me find
    My help, my all in thee.

2 Who my mis’ry can relate,
    My depth of woe reveal?
I have left my first estate,
    In hapless Adam fell:
Driven out of my abode,
    I now have lost my perfect bliss,
Fallen, fallen out of God,
    And banish’d paradise.

3 I am all unclean, unclean,
    Thy purity I want,
My whole heart is sick of sin,
    And my whole head is faint:
Full of putrifying sores,
    Of bruises, and of wounds, my soul
Looks to Jesus; help implores,
    And gasps to be made whole.

\(^{150}\)First appeared in HSP (1742), 43–45.
[4] In the wilderness I stray,
    My foolish heart is blind,
Nothing do I know; the way
    Of peace I cannot find;
Jesu, Lord, restore my sight,
And take, O take the veil away,
    Turn my darkness into light,
My midnight into day.

5 Naked of thine image, Lord,
    Forsaken, and alone,
Unrenew’d, and unrestor’d,
    I have not thee put on:
Over me thy mantle spread,
Send down thy likeness from above,
    Let thy goodness be display’d,
And wrap me in thy love.

6 Poor, alas! Thou know’st I am,
    And would be poorer still
See my nakedness and shame,
    And all my vileness feel:
No good thing in me resides,
My soul is all an aching void,
    ’Till thy Spirit here abides,
And I am fill’d with God.

7 Jesu, full of truth and grace,
    In thee is all I want:
Be the wanderer’s resting-place,
    A cordial to the faint;
Make me rich, for I am poor,
In thee may I my Eden find,
    To the dying health restore,
And eye-sight to the blind.

8 Clothe me with thy holiness,
    Thy meek humility;
Put on me thy glorious dress,
    Endue my soul with thee;
Let thine image be restor’d,
Thy name and nature let me prove,
With thy fulness fill me, Lord,
And perfect me in love.

Hymn [CXXVIII].

1 Love divine, all loves excelling,
Joy of heaven to earth come down,
Fix in us thy humble dwelling,
All thy faithful mercies crown;
Jesu, thou art all compassion,
Pure unbounded love thou art,
Visit us with thy salvation,
Enter every trembling heart.

2 Breathe, O breathe thy loving Spirit,
Into every troubled breast,
Let us all in thee inherit,
Let us find that second rest:
Take away our power of sinning,
Alpha and Omega be,
End of faith as its beginning,
Set our hearts at liberty.

3 Come, Almighty to deliver,
Let us all thy life receive,
Suddenly return, and never,
Never more thy temples leave.
Thee we would be always blessing,
Serve thee as thy hosts above,
Pray, and praise thee, without ceasing,
Glory in thy perfect love.

4 Finish then thy new creation,
Pure and sinless let us be,
Let us see thy great salvation,
Perfectly restor’d in thee:

Chang’d from glory into glory,
   Till in heaven we take our place,
Till we cast our crowns before thee:
   Lost in wonder, love, and praise!

Hymn [CXXIX].

1  Head of thy church triumphant,
   We joyfully adore thee;
   Till thou appear,
   Thy members here
Shall sing like those in glory,
   We lift our hearts and voices,
   With blest anticipation;
   And cry aloud,
   And give to God
The praise of our salvation.

2  While in affliction’s furnace,
   And passing thro’ the fire,
   Thy love we praise,
   Which knows no days,
   And ever brings us nigher,
   We clap our hands exulting
   In thine almighty favour,
   The love divine,
   Which made us thine,
Shall keep us thine for ever.

3  Thou dost conduct thy people,
   Thro’ torrents of temptation,
   Nor will we fear,
   While thou art near,
   The fire of tribulation:
   The world with sin and Satan,
   In vain our march opposes?
   By thee we shall,
   Break thro’ them all,
   And sing the song of Moses.

4 By faith we see the glory,
To which thou shalt restore us,
The cross despise
For that high prize,
Which thou hast set before us;
And if thou count us worthy,
We each as dying Stephen,
Shall see thee stand
At God’s right hand,
To take us up to heaven.

Hymn [CXXX].

1 I’ll praise my Maker while I’ve breath,
And when my voice is lost in death,
Praise shall employ my nobler powers;
My days of praise shall ne’er be past,
While life and thought and being last,
Or immortality endures.

2 Happy the man whose hopes rely
On Israel’s God: he made the sky,
And earth and seas, with all their train:
His truth for ever stands secure;
He saves th’ opprest, he feeds the poor,
And none shall find his promise vain.

3 The Lord pours eye-sight on the blind,
The Lord supports the fainting mind;
He sends the labouring conscience peace,
He helps the stranger in distress,
The widow and the fatherless,
And grants the prisoner sweet release.

4 I’ll praise him while he lends me breath,
And when my voice is lost in death,
Praise shall employ my nobler powers;
My days of praise shall ne’er be past,
While life and thought and being last
Or immortality endures.

Hymn [CXXXI]. 154

1 Thee will I love, O Lord my power:
   My rock and fortress is the Lord,
   My God, my Saviour, and my tower,
   My horn and strength, my shield and sword;
   Secure I trust in his defence,
   I stand in his omnipotence.

2 Still will I invoke his name,
   And spend my life in prayer and praise,
   His goodness own, his promise claim,
   And look for all his saving grace,
   'Till all his saving grace I see,
   From sin and hell for ever free.

3 He sav’d me in temptation’s hour,
   Horribly caught and compass’d round,
   Expos’d to Satan’s raging power,
   In floods of sin and sorrow drown’d,
   Condemn’d the second death to feel,
   Arrested by the pains of hell.

4 To God my God with plaintive cry
   I call’d in agony of fear,
   My humble wailings pierc’d the sky,
   My groanings reach’d his gracious ear,
   He heard me from his glorious throne,
   And sent the timely rescue down.

Hymn [CXXXII]. 155

1 Soldiers of Christ, arise,
   And put your armour on,
   Strong in the strength which God supplies
   Thro’ his eternal Son;
   Strong in the Lord of hosts,
   And in his mighty power,
Who in the strength of Jesus trusts
Is more than conqueror.

2 Stand then in his great might,
With all his strength endu’d,
And take, to arm you for the fight,
The panoply of God;
That having all things done,
And all your conflicts past,
Ye may o’ercome thro’ Christ alone,
And stand entire at last.

3 Stand then against your foes,
In close and firm array:
Legions of wily fiends oppose
Throughout the evil day;
But meet the sons of night,
But mock their vain design,
Arm’d in the arms of heavenly light,
Of righteousness divine.

4 Leave no unguarded place,
No weakness of the soul,
Take every virtue, every grace,
And fortify the whole;
Indissolubly join’d,
To battle all proceed;
But arm yourselves with all the mind
That was in Christ your head.

5 Let truth the girdle be,
That binds your armour on,
In faithful, firm sincerity
To Jesus cleave alone,
Let faith and love combine
To guard your valiant breast:
The plate be righteousness divine,
Imputed, and imprest.

6 Still let your feet be shod,
Ready his will to do,
Ready in all the ways of God
   His glory to pursue:
   Ruin is spread beneath,
   The gospel greaves put on,
And safe thro’ all the snares of death
   To life eternal run.

But above all, lay hold
On faith’s victorious shield,
Arm’d with that adament, and gold,
   Be sure to win the field;
If faith surround your heart,
   Satan shall be subdued;
Repell’d his every fiery dart,
   And quench’d with Jesu’s blood.

Jesus hath died for you!
What can his love withstand?
Believe; hold fast your shield: and who
   Shall pluck you from his hand?
Believe, that Jesus reigns.
   All power to him is given;
Believe, ’till freed from sin’s remains,
   Believe yourselves to heaven.

Your Rock can never shake:
   Hither, he saith, come up!
The helmet of salvation take,
   The confidence of hope:
Hope for his perfect love,
   Hope for his people’s rest,
Hope to sit down with Christ above,
   And share the marriage feast.

Brandish in faith ’till then
The Spirit’s two edg’d sword,
Hew all the snares of fiends and men
   In pieces with the word;
’Tis written; this applied
Baffles their strength, and art;
Spirit and soul with this divide,
And joints and marrow part.

11 To keep your armour bright,
Attend with constant care,
Still walking in your Captain’s sight,
And watching unto prayer;
Ready for all alarms,
Stedfastly set your face,
And always exercise your arms,
And use your every grace.

12 Pray, without ceasing pray,
(Your Captain gives the word)
His summons cheerfully obey,
And call upon the Lord;
To God your every want
In instant prayer display,
Pray always, pray, and never faint,
Pray, without ceasing pray.

13 In fellowship; alone,
To God with faith draw near,
Approach his courts, besiege his throne
With all the powers of prayer:
Go to his temple, go,
Nor from his altar move;
Let every house his worship know,
And every heart his love.

14 To God your spirits dart,
Your souls in words declare,
Or groan, to him who reads the heart,
Th’ unutterable prayer:
His mercy now implore,
And now shew forth his praise,
In shouts, or silent awe, adore
His miracles of grace.
15 Pour out your souls to God,
    And bow them with your knees,
And spread your hearts and hands abroad,
    And pray for Sion’s peace;
Your guides and brethren bear
    Forever on your mind;
Extend the arms of mighty prayer,
    Ingrasping all mankind.

16 From strength to strength go on,
    Wrestle, and fight, and pray,
Tread all the powers of darkness down,
    And win the well fought day;
Still let the Spirit cry
    In all his soldiers, “Come,”
’Till Christ the Lord descends from high,
    And takes the conqu’rors home.

Hymn [CXXXIII].

1 Away my unbelieving fear!
    Fear shall in me no more have place;
My Saviour doth not yet appear,
    He hides the brightness of his face:
But shall I therefore let him go,
    And basely to the tempter yield?
No, in the strength of Jesus, no!
    I never will give up my shield.

    Altho’ the vine its fruit deny,
    Altho’ the olive yield no oil,
The withering fig-tree droop and die,
    The field elude the tiller’s toil,
The empty stall no herd afford,
    And perish all the bleating race,
Yet will I triumph in the Lord,
    The God of my salvation praise.

2 Barren altho’ my soul remain,
    And no one bud of grace appear,
No fruit of all my toil and pain,
   But sin, and only sin is here;
Altho’ my gifts, and comforts lost,
   My blooming hopes cut off I see,
Yet will I in my Saviour trust,
   And glory that he died for me.

In hope believing against hope,
   Jesus my Lord and God I claim,
Jesus my strength shall lift me up,
   Salvation is in Jesu’s name:
To me he soon shall bring it nigh,
   My soul shall then outstrip the wind,
On wings of love mount up on high,
   And leave the world and sin behind.

FINIS.
