

TMC Fellows Condensed MTS

A TMC Fellow has the option to petition for MTS Focus paradigm. Most TMC Fellows seek the Theology and Ethics paradigm. TMC Fellows in Duke School of Medicine can treat the MTS as a dual degree and complete the MTS with 12 units. TMC Fellows at UNC School of Medicine are allowed to complete their MTS at 14 units. They must graduate with MTS and medicine degree at the same time. Enrollment verifications from Registrar’s office at non-Duke medical schools is required.

Possible Paradigm

Fall	Spring	Fall
Core course	Core course	Core Course
Core course	Core course	Elective in Concentration
Spiritual Formation (XTIANSTU 707)	Spiritual Formation (XTIANSTU 707)	Directed study for thesis
Elective in Concentration	Elective in Concentration	Elective in Concentration
	Possible overload	Possible overload

MTS students can apply to take an overload to 5 classes in the Spring or take a class in Summer. Students cannot overload in the first term.

If a student does not want to take 4 classes in the second Fall, a TMC fellow can then spread the remaining units over Summer, Fall, and Spring. This may make them part-time students, which has financial aid and scholarship implications.

Paradigm Possibility Two

Fall	Spring
Core course	Core course
Core course	Core course
Spiritual Formation (XTIANSTU 707)	Spiritual Formation (XTIANSTU 707)
Elective in Concentration	Elective in Concentration
	Possible overload (or Summer)

Fall	Spring
Core Course	Directed study for thesis
Elective in Concentration	Elective in Concentration
Possible overload

Students must graduate from their programs in the same term. A student who has completed all units before their last term may take a leave from Duke program (if approved) or register for continuation (and pay the continuation fee).
